Troopship Receives Needed Anti-Toxin

BOSTON (AP)—An emergency call for anti-toxin from the troopship Colby Victory, aboard which an outbreak of diphtheria was reported, was answered today by the Ss. Brazil.

After the Brazil reported she had put the required medical supplies aboard the ship, where one soldier died of the disease several hundred miles off Argentina, Nfld., the U.S. Coast Guard halted efforts to fly the anti-toxin to the Colby Victory.

The Colby Victory is carrying 1,000 troops from New York to Bremerhaven, Germany.

50 Firms Probed

DETROIT (AP)—Federal officials disclosed today that 50 Detroit firms, including two major concerns, are under investigation for violation of the War Frauds Act. Officials confirmed reports that the probes are under way, but declined to list the firms involved.

Fruit Loss $1,800,000

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Okanagan fruit growers today completed their survey of damage in Monday's freak hailstorm and estimated the total Okanagan crop will be reduced by 1,500,000 boxes. Losses to growers are estimated at $1,800,000, only part of which is covered by insurance. Apples were reduced from 8,000,000 boxes to 7,000,000, which is about 2,000,000 over last year.

Favorites Lead

MAYFAIR GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta's Henry Martell and Ontario veteran Jack Nash of London, two of the favorites to cop the Canadian Amateur Golf crown for 1946, scored easy victories in second-round play today both with under-par cards. Martell ousted the Manitoba amateur champion, Harold Eidsvig of Winnipeg, 5 and 4. Nash defeated Ivan Aven of Comox, B.C., 4 and 3.

Luxury Cars Easier To Get As Used Cars Most In Demand

Discontinuance of priority certificates for the purchase of new automobiles, which comes into effect Thursday, will not mean that the driver who has been carefully nursing the old jalopy along until the happy day when he can buy that new dream car, should now throw caution to the winds.

Local automobile dealers explained that most of them have so many priority certificates deposited with them, which must be filled before any cars may be sold on the open market that, even with normal production, it would take three or four months to get them cleared away. With the rubber workers strike the earliest guess as to when the priority certificate holders would be satisfied was six months, and other more pessimistic dealers forecast a 12 to 18-month period, agreeing with Hon. C. D. Howe, reconstruction minister.

Biggest demand for cars comes from returned veterans who want them for use in rehabilitation schemes, the dealers agreed, with few being needed at the moment for government, utility companies or doctors.

Put End To Franco Rule Says Molotov

143 Already Held By Police In Tel Aviv

JERUSALEM (CP)—Civic life in the modern all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv was at a standstill today as an unprecedented man hunt by 20,000 British Tommies went through its second day with 133 men and 10 women already under arrest.

A high ranking officer said the round-up of underground members wanted for questioning in connection with the bombing last week of the King David Hotel here and other outbreaks of violence in the Holy Land would continue for two or three more days. Up to 3,000 arrests were expected.

The 200,000 residents of Tel Aviv submitted with resignation to the round-up and the imposition of a 22-hour curfew. Blaring loud speakers announced the curfew, which was backed up by tanks and troops. Building by building, the hob-nailed Tommies combed the city.

Suspects were whisked to hastily-erected barbed wire cages, and then the men were taken to the Rafa Prison Camp and the women to Latrun Detention Camp.

"It's a big and extremely unpleasant task," commented Maj. Gen. A. J. H. Cassels, commanding the operations. "By hook or by crook we must find and detain these gangs."

Materials Priority For Farm Machines

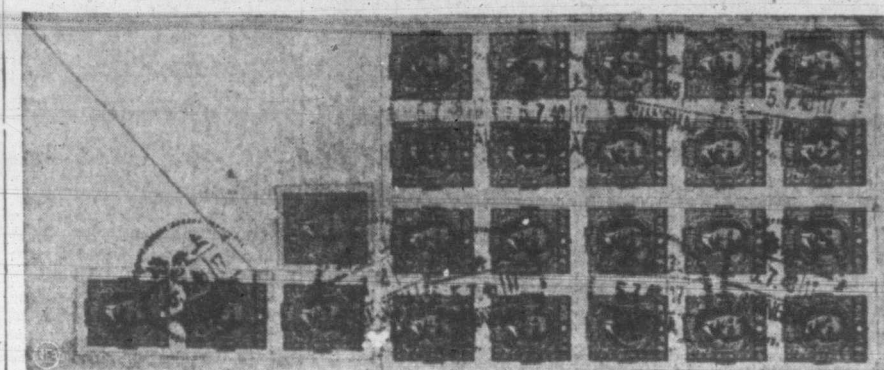

OTTAWA (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Howe said today in the Commons the government "fully recognized the needs of the home market for farm implements and was taking care of that market to a 'higher degree' than any other consumer commodity."

He said farm implements had the highest priority as regards materials and the industry was operating at capacity, subject to limitations imposed by the current strike in steel plants.

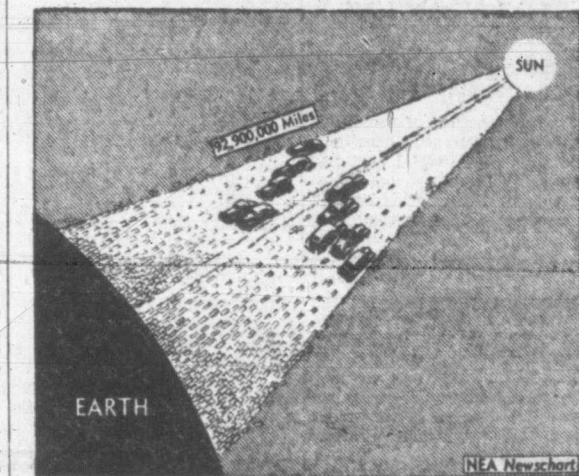

The minister spoke after Percy Wright, C.C.F., Melfort, Sask., had adjourned the House to discuss the "serious" shortage of farm machines in western Canada and charged the situation had resulted from excessive exports which were depriving Canadian farmers of needed equipment.

Mr. Howe said that actually Canada was a deficit nation as far as farm machinery was concerned. The United States was exporting farm equipment to Canada.

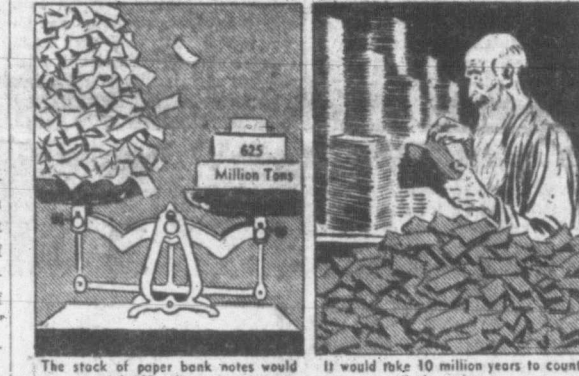

Two Lessons In Inflation

Reproduced above is the envelope of an airmail letter from China received in this country. It was just an ordinary letter, in a 4½x9½ envelope, but China's currency is so badly inflated that it required $4,700 (Chinese) worth of postage. At the Canadian airmail rate to China, the letter would probably have carried about $1.40 worth of stamps.

A quadrillion one-pengo notes would pave a 10-lane highway to the sun.

The stock of paper bank notes would weigh 625 million tons.

Inflation-beset Hungary set a world bank note record with its new 1,000 trillion (one quadrillion) pengo bill. Newschart shows what would have happened if they'd issued 1,000,000,000,000,000 notes of one-pengo value. But there's a paper shortage, and besides, one quadrillion pengos are only worth between $2 and nothing at all.

Nursing Permit Cancellations Severe Blow To Hospitals Here

Withdrawal of temporary war emergency nursing permits by the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. will be a blow to both Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals, which are experiencing a shortage of nurses at the present time.

Cancellation of the temporary permits, which goes into effect Sept. 1, means the hospitals will lose the services of nurses registered in other provinces, who are not registered in B.C.

Owing to the crowding of the fourth floor at the Jubilee, the hospital may have to move it to the new maternity building and leave the floor vacant, in addition to the first floor which is now vacant, Dr. T. W. Walker, superintendent, said today. It would mean a closure of 75 beds on the two floors.

"One hundred and fifty babies were born this month to date and the maternity floor is grossly overcrowded. In the near future we will have to occupy the maternity pavilion," he said.

MANY NURSES SHORT

"The Jubilee is already short 25 graduate nurses and owing to the ruling of the Nurses' Association, we will have to let go six nurses, who have graduated in other provinces but do not have French and algebra."

Without these subjects the nurses cannot register in B.C. and consequently cannot practice in a hospital with a training school, Dr. Walker said.

"In time of emergency like this it is difficult to understand the attitude of the Nurses' Association," he added. "There are nurses from other provinces we could secure to relieve the situation but cannot take them."

Jury Decides Marine's Death Was Accidental

A verdict that 2nd-Lt. Edward John Carnes, aged 22, U.S. Marine Corps, came by his death from a bullet wound inflicted by the accidental firing of a .45 revolver by his own hand, was returned this morning by a coroner's jury at an inquest in Hayward's Funeral Parlor into the circumstances surrounding his death last Sunday afternoon at Work Point Barracks.

Mrs. Dorothy Taylor, an eye-witness to the accident, said she was on the beach with the deceased at the barracks when Carnes was shooting at a log in the water. Witness said Carnes allowed her to fire the gun once at the log. "Then he took the clip out of the revolver and put it in the pouch of his webbing belt and holstered the gun."

She then told of returning to the garden and having a long talk while they relaxed there. "He was stripped to the waist and was sun-tanning. We talked a great deal about various things," she said, and as a result of some remark I made, which I do not recall, he said 'All right, I'll shoot myself,' but I thought in a sort of joking manner."

"He took the gun out of the holster and put it to his head and then when he pulled the trigger it went off," Mrs. Taylor said.

Lt. R. E. S. Chambers, Work Point, said he had observed Carnes using the gun and was of the opinion he was not familiar with it and did not know when it was loaded.

Coroner E. C. Hart said he had known many accidents with guns involving clips. "After taking out the clip there can still be a last shell in the barrel. Knowing what I know about guns and that young men 22 years old do not commit suicide, but sometimes act foolishly, I am inclined to regard it as an accident."

Chief Gil Stancombe of the Esquimalt Police also testified.

Quebec Hears Amnesty Coming

QUEBEC (CP)—Le Soleil, Quebec daily French-language newspaper, said in a newspace story today that it learned from a Quebec province member of the House of Commons that a general amnesty will be granted "in a few weeks" for all army deserters and those who did not answer their call-up.

At Ottawa, sources available said they had heard no such report and recalled previous defence headquarters statements that there would be no general amnesty.

He confirmed reports that Viceroy Lord Wavell was seeking to arrange an interim government plan for transition to India's independence.

Destruction Of Fascism Needed To Keep Peace Foreign Minister Says

Canadians Urge Big 4 Thrash Out Matters Quickly

By ROSS MUNRO
PARIS (CP)—Behind the scenes of the 21-power peace conference here some members of the Canadian delegation are advancing a proposal that the Big Four meet informally as the conference progresses to consider and try to thrash out major points at issue as they arise.

Under this scheme the Big Four also would consider recommendations from the 21 powers as they are made.

Even though the world press will be given full opportunity to report the formal debates at the peace talks, experienced diplomats say the final peace treaties actually will be written by a few leaders in a private room.

Under the Moscow declaration, which is the charter for this conference, all recommendations from the conference will be considered by the Foreign Ministers' Conference scheduled for after the conference.

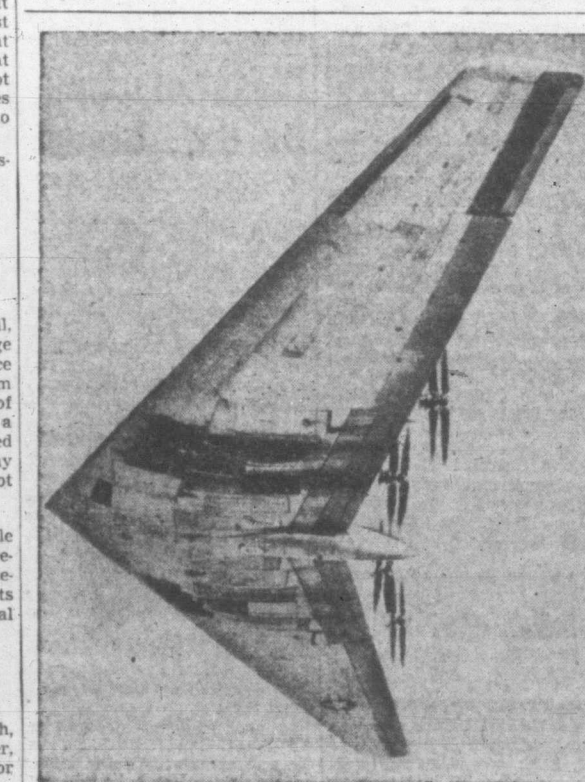

However, strong sentiment is developing within the British Commonwealth—and has the support of Prime Minister Attlee—to join the United States in seeking Big Four acceptance of conference recommendations as the peace talks proceed. It is learned U.S. State Secretary Byrnes also favors the principle of parallel meetings of the Big Four much along the line of the Canadian scheme.

A Canadian leader, who said he had put forth the plan, found warm support from Britain, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Foundry Wage Award Canceled By Board

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 10-cent award for Vancouver and New Westminster foundry workers set July 10 has been canceled by the Regional War Labor Board in view of mediation proceedings being conducted by Judge David Whiteside.

The inquiry into the dispute, now in its 76th day, continued today.

THE WING WINGS AWAY—Northrop's XB-35 plane, the famous "Flying Wing," is pictured above in "clean" flight over Hawthorne, Calif.; the giant landing wheels neatly tucked inside. According to the U.S. Army's Materiel Command at Wright Field, Ohio, the strange air monster has had an "unprecedented" record of trouble-free performance since its first test flight.

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia, in a speech to the Paris Peace Conference today, called upon "democratic countries" of the world to put an end to the Franco regime of Spain.

"It is impossible to safeguard peace," said Mr. Molotov, "unless Fascism is destroyed."

He told the delegates, called to confer on the peace that is to be written in Europe with Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland: "If we have still to deal with the question of the Fascist regime in Spain, then the time must not be too distant when democratic countries will be able to help the Spanish people who groan under Franco's regime to put an end to this survival bred by Hitler and Mussolini which is dangerous to the cause of peace."

The Soviet Foreign Minister spoke after an appearance before the conference rules committee at which he fought to establish a two-thirds majority voting rule for the conference of 24 powers, because, he said, "if all decisions were by simple majority the U.S.S.R. would be sure to find itself always in the minority."

He found qualified support in his fight in State Secretary Byrnes of the United States, who, an American informant said, will propose Thursday that a two-thirds majority vote be necessary for approval of essential and substantive matters.

Mr. Byrnes' proposal Thursday, the informant said, would carry the proviso that all substantive proposals which failed to obtain a two-thirds majority should nevertheless be sent by the conference back to the council of four Foreign Ministers, along with the names of the countries that voted for it and with the request that the four Foreign Ministers give the measure special consideration.

WOULD FORM VOTING BLOCK

Making his first public official conference pronouncement, the Soviet Foreign Minister told a meeting of the rules committee: "This (simple majority) naturally would place the Anglo-Saxons at an advantage because it would form a block of from 12 to 13 votes."

He feared adoption of a simple majority rule would play the west against eastern Europe.

"The conference should be interested in preventing a play on votes and should be concerned with assuring the authority of the recommendations it is going to make, and not in attempting to set off 12 countries against seven or eight countries..."

He predicted there was every possibility the conference could reach each termination with every proposal adopted by a two-thirds rule.

Newspaper reporters of many countries, sitting in for the first time in history as peace conference observers, were in attendance as the committee plunged quickly into the troublesome question on which Mr. Molotov voiced his support on a Yugoslav proposal for a two-thirds voting rule.

State Secretary Byrnes had told the conference Tuesday the United States was supporting draft treaty proposals prepared by the Foreign Ministers of Russia, the United States, Britain and France, but that if two-thirds of the 21-power conference disagreed with the four-power decisions he would support the conference's recommendations for revision.

SPIRITED DEBATE

The Yugoslav proposal plunged the conference into spirited debate, with spokesmen for Australia and The Netherlands claiming a simple majority should be sufficient.

Both Australia and The Netherlands said the two thirds proposal would mean a Big Four domination.

Moisha Pyade, vice-president of the Yugoslav Assembly, presented the motion and also urged Albania be admitted as the 22nd member of the conference.

Calgary, Vancouver Killings Not Related

VANCOUVER (CP)—Optimism was expressed by city police today with their efforts to trace a former soldier wanted for questioning in connection with the brutal murder of Garry Billings, 11, here July 5.

Their hopes were based on a report that an ex-soldier had been living in the bush in the vicinity of Siwash Rock in Stanley Park about the time Garry disappeared from his home.

This man is stated to have disappeared from his usual haunts about the time Garry is believed to have been murdered and his description had been broadcast to all police departments on the continent.

Meanwhile, Detectives Joseph Hardy and Thomas Campbell have eliminated any possible connection between the murder of a six-year-old boy in Calgary last week and the slaying of Garry here.

Details of the Calgary slaying arrived here late Tuesday afternoon and descriptions of the Alberta slayer do not tally with a description police have for the suspect in the Billings case.

Investigations have been hampered by the fact that police started on the trail of the killer almost three weeks after Garry disappeared when he left his home July 5 to go swimming at Second Beach and keep an appointment with an ex-soldier.

Until the post mortem is completed by Dr. S. E. Creighton, coroner's autopsist, today, police are still unaware of the cause of death.

Alarmed At Apathy Of Canada To Need Of Peacetime Arms

TORONTO (CP)—Maj.-Gen. Arthur E. Potts, a soldier in two world wars and through 21 years of uncertain peace, returned today to civilian life "as much a pacifist as ever," but alarmed at the apathy of Canadians "to the urgency of national defence in peacetime."

Gen. Potts, 55, who is retiring as general officer commanding the Canadian army's Central Command, said in an interview with the Canadian Press that without an adequate peacetime force "we'd certainly be out of luck" if there was another war.

He rose from the ranks in the First Great War, was twice wounded, won the Military Medal and became a lieutenant. Between wars he became brigade commander in the Non-Permanent Active Militia at Saskatoon, Sask.

In the Second Great War, he led the expedition which raided Spitzbergen in September, 1941, and later commanding the 6th Division on the B.C. coast he came to Toronto in October, 1943, as officer commanding Military District No. 2. Recently he was appointed G.O.C. the Central Command.

The former University of Saskatchewan dairy specialist said his plans for the immediate future are unsettled. First will come "a bit of a holiday." As a civilian again, Gen. Potts said, he intends to advocate national defence as a "must" for Canada's future.

Says U.S. Locals Would Hold Sympathy Strikes

TORONTO (CP)—Fred Dowling, Canadian director and international vice-president of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.), today said United States locals in the Swift & Company packing houses will stage a sympathy strike if a strike develops in the Swift-Canadian Company plants.

Mr. Dowling's statement came as the union announced employees of Swift's Toronto plant had voted in favor of strike action if necessary.

Voting in the Edmonton and Winnipeg plants was scheduled for tonight and balloting was expected to be completed this week in Moncton, N.B.; Moose Jaw, Sask., and New Westminster, B.C.

Strike votes were ordered after failure of the company and the union to agree on the issue of a company-wide contract.

Dissatisfaction With Progress By U.N. Grows In Canada, U.S.

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

TORONTO—Here is a report from the "little people" of five big democracies.

These people, ordinary citizens who have just stumbled and suffered their way through war, eagerly watched the machinery which their statesmen and leaders set up to keep the peace, and now show a disturbing dissatisfaction with the way that machinery is working.

In Canada, France, United States, Britain and Australia, opinion reporters for five affiliated Institutes of Public Opinion put this identical question to carefully building samples of the population in these countries: "Are you satisfied or dissatisfied with the progress made so far by the United Nations' organization?"

Accuracy of methods used to measure opinion has been proven by a series of election forecasts in all these countries.

In none of the five countries did the Gallup Poll find even close to a majority satisfaction. In one country (France) internal problems, concerning such vital matters as a new constitution and actual living standards, have apparently overshadowed foreign affairs to the extent of a marked indifference to the progress of the U.N.

In Australia, Gallup Poll officials report no change of senti-

Woman Escapes In Freak Crash

Mrs. James Graham, an elderly and partially crippled woman, had a narrow escape at 3.30 Tuesday afternoon when a trailer broke away from a car which was towing it, crashed through the fence of her home at 845 Caledonia Avenue, over the veranda, and came to rest against a chair on which she had been sitting just a few minutes before. Mrs. Graham is seen in the doorway of her house with her husband standing with his foot on the trailer. City police investigating are Const. Dick Berry, left, and Const. Jim Baxter. They said the car towing the trailer was driven east on Caledonia Avenue by Roy J. Grovyn, Sidney.

Rural Areas Of B.C., Prairies Face Teacher Shortage In Autumn

By Canadian Press

With only one month left for summer holidays school inspectors in rural areas throughout Canada are busily continuing their search for enough teachers to meet increased enrolments.

A Canadian Press survey today revealed that in many areas, particularly in the prairie provinces, the shortage of teachers will be even more acute this fall than it was a year ago.

Predicting 400 vacancies in Alberta public schools next September, Education Department officials have prepared to pool the teachers in needy communities. Pupils without teachers will be enrolled for correspondence courses and will take daily lessons under the direction of a "correspondence supervisor."

In Manitoba the shortage of 275 fully-qualified teachers will be made up of "permites" (high school graduates without training and also some who have taken a six weeks' summer course).

In Victoria Dr. C. B. Conway of the Teachers' Summer School said the shortage in British Columbia would be worse than at any time during the war. He added that while the larger cities of Victoria and Vancouver have their full quota of teachers, the difficulties lie in the rural areas, where salaries are lower.

In Prince Albert, Sask., about 25 per cent of the vacancies will remain unfilled.

Reasons for the continued dearth are varied. Many of the married women have returned to their homes now that husbands have come back from overseas. On the other hand, single women have married and no longer wish to continue teaching.

G. D. Eamer, president of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation, said the "exodus of Saskatchewan teachers to more remunerative occupations outside the province" is responsible for the shortage in that area.

In Ontario, Education Department officials report the teaching situation has improved.

Weather

An onshore flow of cool air is producing overcast conditions over the entire coastal area and generally cloudy conditions throughout the interior of B.C. Rainstorms or intermittent rain were reported over the coast this morning and locally through the northern interior. The greatest amount of rain has fallen on the west coast of Vancouver Island where the total fall in the past 24 hours has averaged over ½ inch. Little change in weather is expected during the next 24 hours but general improvement is forecast for Thursday afternoon and evening.

Victoria and Vicinity—Overcast becoming cloudy by early afternoon. Increasing cloudiness overnight becoming overcast Thursday morning but clearing by mid-afternoon. Light winds except southwesterly 15 m.p.h. during afternoons and evenings today and Thursday. Little change in temperatures.

Vancouver and Vicinity—Overcast today except for some clearing late afternoon and early evening. Overcast Thursday morning becoming cloudy by mid-afternoon. Intermittent rain becoming widely scattered showers this afternoon and early evening. Widely scattered rain-showers vicinity north shore mountains Thursday afternoon. Easterly winds 10 m.p.h. becoming light by mid-afternoon today. Little change in temperatures.

Lower Fraser Valley, Straits of Georgia—Overcast except for evening. Overcast Thursday some clearing this afternoon and morning becoming cloudy by early afternoon and clear by evening. Widely scattered rain-showers today. Light winds Fraser Valley. Southeasterly winds 15 m.p.h. Georgia Straits becoming light this evening and Thursday. Little change in temperatures.

West Coast, Vancouver Island—Overcast becoming locally cloudy Thursday afternoon. Intermittent rain today becoming showers tonight and Thursday. Southeasterly winds 20 m.p.h. decreasing to 10 m.p.h. by evening and becoming southwesterly 15 m.p.h. about noon Thursday. Little change in temperatures.

Province Strikers Resume Picketing

VANCOUVER (CP)—A printers' picket line was re-established at the Vancouver Daily Province Tuesday three hours after Mr. Justice A. M. Harper in B.C. Supreme Court had ruled striking members of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) could resume "peaceful picketing." The line continued today.

Mr. Justice Harper approved amendments to an injunction granted July 15 to the newspaper's management prohibiting picketing.

The amendments were placed before the court by C. W. Tysoc, acting for the striking printers, and in all but one instance were agreed to by C. K. Guld, on behalf of the publishers of the newspaper.

The printers, on strike since June 5, now are permitted the right of "peaceful persuasion" to urge workmen, employees or others, not to seek employment in the locality "affected by the dispute."

During the two weeks the printers were prohibited from picketing, other union sympathizers maintained a picket line and a week ago 15 men were arrested during a disturbance at the newspaper plant in which a truck was overturned and bundles of newspapers destroyed in a bonfire on the street.

Preliminary hearing of the men was opened Tuesday before Magistrate W. W. B. MacInnes in police court and 12 of the accused announced they would elect trial in a higher court. Three others will be given a hearing later.

The hearing was adjourned until Thursday after evidence of two press photographers had been heard.

Commons Approves Proposal For Taxation Of Co-operatives

OTTAWA (CP)—A hard-fought C.C.F. battle against the taxation of co-operatives died in a welter of words Tuesday night as the Commons gave approval to three budget resolutions aimed at giving effect to that proposal.

Supported by the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties, the C.C.F. group forced a standing vote on the main resolution on co-operative taxation, only to see the motion carried by a count of 70-56. Formal divisions are not possible when the House is studying resolutions in the committee stage.

Two additional resolutions touching on the contentious question then were quickly passed without a recorded vote, although Fred Zaplitzky, C.C.F., Dauphin, Man., sought to move an amendment to grant tax exemption to co-operatives established during the last three years. The amendment was ruled out of order.

C.C.F. members, fighting primarily against a stipulation that 3 per cent of the working capital of co-operatives be taxed, urged that provision be removed or the legislation withdrawn until a Dominion co-operatives act be established.

Acting Finance Minister Abbott indicated the government was determined to enforce the legislation as drafted, although he did move three amendments which he announced last week would be made in an effort to meet opposition objections.

With the co-operatives resolutions out of the way, members quickly passed resolutions dealing with credit unions, insurance companies and joint stock companies, and then lengthily debated a resolution granting a three-year tax exemption to new mining developments.

The House also gave first reading to 12 bills studied by the veterans' committee and slated now to become part of Canada's veterans' charter.

showing parliamentarians and trade boards throughout the country with dodgers urging a free zone near the old Citadel.

While not so vocal, Halifax and Saint John also have made bids. The two Maritime ports have introduced a rivalry into the issue by coming out for year-round open ports—an argument which would rule out Quebec Harbor, closed during the winter months.

Transport Minister Chevrier has been non-committal on the project because it was under study by the interdepartmental committee.

The spurt of enthusiasm for free port zones, in the opinion of some capital circles, may be cooled when the full implications of freer international trade are discussed at the World Trade Conference scheduled for next spring. Free ports may be one of the subjects on the agenda and the necessity of their operation under new economic concepts may be discussed.

Most persons have a hazy idea of the general definition of a free port as a place in which merchants of all nations may load and unload goods, unaffected by the country's customs regulations as long as the goods remain in the free port zone.

U.S. DESCRIBES SYSTEM

A United States department once gave this fuller definition: "A free port is a segregated, fenced and guarded area in which goods not otherwise prohibited may be unloaded and stored, subject to varying restrictions as to sorting, grading, repacking, manipulation and manufacture, and in which such goods, or authorized manufactures, therefrom, may be reloaded and shipped to foreign destinations, all without the imposition of the customs formalities and duties applicable to similar goods entering customs territory."

When the shipment of such goods into customs territory is permitted, they immediately become subject to the duties, rules and regulations prevailing.

Free ports now are in operation in New York and New Orleans in the United States, where there are no comparable regulations to the Canadian bonded warehouse system, which has been described as a "junior free port."

Explanation Of Presence In China Of U.S. Marines

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—U.S. marines were sent into north China last fall to open ports and railways, and to disarm and repatriate Japanese troops.

The disarming and repatriation now is completed except for an estimated 20,000 or so "technicians" which the Chinese government wants to keep on. The marines have stayed on, under orders and in reduced strength, to keep railways lines open and to help preserve order. This was because the government and Communist troops probably would have started large scale fighting if the marines had left.

The marines have garrisons at Tsingtao, on the south Shantung coast, at the ports of Tangku and Chinwangtao below the Great Wall, and at Tientsin and Peiping.

Chinwangtao is a shipping point for coal that comes from mines halfway down a railway to Tientsin. The marines keep this line open, and also the one inland from Tientsin to Peiping.

CLAIM CHIANG AIDED

From the first, the Chinese Communists protested that the presence of the marines helped the central government re-establish itself in what the Communists considered their areas, and that the marines and other features of U.S. policy helped the government in an undeclared civil war against the Communists. The marines ran into a number of minor incidents with Communists.

One has occurred now however, which is not minor. A Chinese ambush waylaid a marine truck convoy half way between Tientsin and Peiping. Several marines and an unknown number of Chinese were killed and injured. The ambush appears to have been well planned and executed, like the ones the Communists used to carry out against the Japanese.

As the uniforms worn by some of the Chinese involved looked like Communist uniforms, there is a strong chance that it was a Communist job, though that does not necessarily mean it represents high Communist planning because marines say they have killed some Chinese at this same point in earlier brushes.

The marines in China are part of the U.S. effort, personified by Gen. Marshall and Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, to keep the Communist and government armies from leaping at each other's throats in open civil war. A hint that U.S. policy in China may come under review was provided last week when three junior democratic Congressmen from the west coast severely criticized the way it has been working out.

Storms And Fog Give Teacher Rough Trip In Small Ketch

NANAIMO (CP)—Grandpa may have had a hard time of it in his day, walking to school, but Bentley Edwards, a Vancouver school teacher, has hit a new high in travel difficulties.

Edwards, whose favorite pastime is sailing his small ketch, Wanda, is now living with his family aboard the boat while taking a post-graduate course in education at the University of California.

He set out from here July 2 with his wife, two children and a black cocker spaniel.

Off Cape Flattery they hit a 50-mile-an-hour gale and by the time they reached Barkley Sound everyone but the spaniel was seasick.

Further south, they encountered a 48-mile-an-hour wind which developed into a 70-mile-an-hour blow. Next, they ran into a fog which lasted for four days, and when it lifted, found they were being convoyed by a whale. Finally, almost within sight of their goal, the wind dropped and the boat developed engine trouble.

"We finished our voyage," said Mr. Edwards, "by being towed into San Francisco Harbor behind a dirty little fish boat."

Car Priorities Will Be Stopped Aug. 1

OTTAWA (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Howe announced Tuesday that priority certificates for motor vehicles will be discontinued Aug. 1 and no new applications will be accepted after that date.

Mr. Howe said the action had been taken by the motor vehicle controller "in view of the continued low production in the automobile industry and the fact that the large number of priority certificates already issued greatly exceeds domestic deliveries to dealers."

"It would be meaningless to continue issuing these certificates for which deliveries, in all probability, could not be made for some time to come," he said.

Urgent cases which might arise following the discontinuance of certificates, will be given "most careful consideration" on the basis of evidence submitted and, where the case is considered justified, a certificate would be issued direct from Ottawa.

In a brief interview in his office Tuesday night, Mr. Howe said there had been widespread illegal traffic in the priority certificates, but he gave no details of the traffic.

From another reliable source, however, it was learned that at least 500 of the cherished foolscaps, buff and white certificates had been exchanged for black market prices as high as $300.

VICTORIA AND AIRPORTS

STATISTICS AND ILLUSTRATIONS DEpicting the capacity of present and potential air liners would seem to predicate bigger and better airfields and all the paraphernalia essential to their servicing. Victoria is vitally concerned with all these developments, not only because geographical and climatic advantages which this community enjoys are unique, but also because aerial transportation companies operating on a global scale are naturally interested in this outlet to the vast Pacific bowl. In other words, the capital city of British Columbia should become the first and last port of call for the modern sky monsters, just as it has been regarded by ocean liners.

Any discussion on this subject as far as Victoria is concerned, of course, promptly confronts us with the airport question—the development of the Dominion government's property at Patricia Bay into the last word of efficiency in the aerial transportation realm, or the establishment of a subsidiary, and essentially less ambitious, establishment at Gordon Head. As we said in these columns on March 5 last, public policy is involved in the former and, such being the case, an official decision as to the intentions of the federal authorities will be necessary before concrete plans could be considered in respect of the other site. What seems to be worrying most advocates of the Gordon Head proposal is the time required to convey passengers to and from Patricia Bay. We observed here nearly five months ago:

The building of a new thoroughfare, from Victoria to Sidney, or even complete modernization of the present highway, assuredly would be the natural corollary to the conversion of Patricia Bay into a really up-to-date airport. For it stands to reason that no makeshift arrangement can hope to anticipate the needs of aviation's certain, revolutionary developments within the next few years. Under the prosecution of a really progressive policy, moreover, the time element as far as road service is concerned would become relatively unimportant.

The time element as applied to Victoria's case, moreover, should be considered in conjunction with road services between large centres of population on this continent and the airfields which serve them. The latest schedule of United Air Lines, for example, gives interesting details. Here are a few which note the minutes consumed between plane and city:

Akron, Ohio	30 minutes
Boise, Idaho	40 minutes
Buffalo, New York	45 minutes
Cheyenne, Wyoming	60 minutes
Chicago, Ill.	50 minutes
Detroit, Mich.	45 minutes
Los Angeles, Calif.	60 minutes
Medford, Ore.	30 minutes
Montreal, Canada	45 minutes
Oakland, Calif.	50 minutes
St. Louis, Mo.	55 minutes
Seattle, Wash.	35 minutes
Toronto, Canada	60 minutes

When the matter is reduced for final decision, however, technical advice and experience will obviously determine the outcome. It is nevertheless well for our citizens to bear in mind that their community's place on the air map of the world may be determined more by the number and size of aircraft calling here than by the number of airfields—which conceivably might not exceed two. Since the federal government already owns a large one, moreover, it will obviously require to be satisfied that it would be good business all round to commit itself to new expenditures for additional airport facilities nearer the centre of population. This is not to assume that two airports would be one too many. Aviation, after all, is still in its infancy. New marvels are manifesting themselves all the time.

A REALISTIC SUGGESTION

WHETHER IT IS THE BEST SYSTEM OR
is merely the course of expediency, the principle of the Peel Commission's recommendations for the partition of Palestine gains weight as continuing outrages in the Holy Land bring into sharp focus the incompatibility of Arab and Jew in that troubled territory. Moreover, there is a large measure of realism in the most recent development announced by Viscount Addison to the effect that Anglo-American experts have proposed division of the country into four areas, two of which would be Arab and Jewish respectively. To the latter, the experts would leave the question of determining the number of their wandering brothers who should be admitted.

The time is past when argument over the rights of Jews to a national home in Palestine can carry much weight. The members of that race have established themselves there and no case set forth by Arab extremists can alter the fact. The sustained tension between the two peoples, however, makes it imperative that some policy of segregation be established for mutual protection until such time as greater understanding prevails between them.

The problem obviously has been intensified by the inclination of certain interests among the major powers to blame one or the other outside governments for the conditions which now prevail. But the new proposal put forward by the Anglo-American experts, whatever its weaknesses may be, at least directs attention to a group which is vitally concerned with the issue—the Jews

now living in Palestine. They are presented with a challenge. Their acceptance of it, subject, of course, to the feasibility of establishing the provinces, might furnish the solution for the immediate problem.

NURSES AND HUMAN NEEDS

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S REGISTERED Nurses' Association has decided to withdraw temporary war emergency permits under which able nurses from other provinces, or Great Britain, are at present practicing. This official edict is to go into effect on September 1. After that date several already under-staffed hospitals will be facing an urgent state of affairs.

Regardless of the necessity for maintaining high standards in the nursing profession —and nobody would seriously advocate their reduction—the least the provincial nurses' organization might be expected to do under the circumstances would be to renew the temporary permits and sustain their validity until conditions improve. But the executive officials of the B.C.R.N.A. evidently are not in the least influenced by appeals from harassed hospital superintendents. They are adamant in their professional exclusiveness;
the fact that several institutions are obliged to close whole wards because of a general shortage of graduate nurses does not seem to impress them. No longer do they propose to permit further invasions of their preserves by persons who have not measured up to the requisite academic point in British Columbia's schedule of qualifications.

It is not necessary to explain that every patient in a hospital expects first-class nursing service; and some types of illness require attention which only wide experience can supply. But some nurses who have had just this experience elsewhere and are to receive their marching orders from the B.C.R.N.A. at the end of August cannot have their permits renewed because, for instance, they may have failed in algebra or have only two years of French instead of three. In other words, the British Columbia nursing hierarchy seems to make no allowance for general aptitude—almost invariably combined with practical knowledge—but insists on the strictest adherence to both the spirit and letter of the legalistic dictum.

Everybody knows that the nurse's lot is not a happy one; neither is a policeman's.
But those who follow the nursing profession acquire certain human qualities which contribute to their efficiency. It is because of the pressing human needs of the moment, therefore, that extremely worried hospital authorities—as well as the public—are hoping British Columbia's Registered Nurses' Association will take a more tolerant view of the requests made upon it.

HISTORICAL EVENT

THROUGHOUT BRITISH COLUMBIA
the eyes of those concerned with the early history of the province are directed this week to events in the capital where the Diocese of Victoria is commemorating the 100th anniversary of its founding. Many events and exhibitions are drawing attention to the activities of members of the Roman Catholic faith during slightly more than ten decades which have elapsed since the first mass was celebrated here.

It is natural that such an occasion should be marked by the presentation of tableaux reviewing highlights of the intervening years—paying particular attention to those early days when the beginnings of the present city were heaved from the wilderness.
Other attractions, the display of handicrafts and art among them, carry an appeal of wide interest to the student of the development of this community and provide an opportunity for the sponsoring bodies to indicate the progress they have made during the last hundred years.

The ambitious and imaginative nature of the program and the time and energy expended on its preparation and presentation furnish their own evidence of the importance attached to this centenary.

INVITATION TO THIEVES

DESPITE ORDINARY PRECAUTIONS ON the part of automobile owners, some cars will be stolen by undisciplined and wayward youths. When those precautions are not observed, the opportunities for theft are multiplied. The police have enough to do without tracing missing cars that have not been locked or in which keys have been left in the ignition. Police Chief J. A. McLellan can speak feelingly on the matter. His statement that: "up to date this year 143 automobiles have been reported stolen and in practically every case the ignition key has been left in the car and the doors unlocked," furnishes its own commentary. Such carelessness is an invitation to car thieves and an evocation to mischief that can have grave consequences.

SIC TRANSIT . . .

THE BEWILDERED PARENT, LONG since resigned to acceptance of the new hair-dos affected by daughter, is mildly startled by the tonsorial designs in vogue now for the adolescent-and-younger son. A few seasons ago it was as difficult to get the boy to have his hair cut as it was for an earlier generation of fathers and mothers to make junior wash behind the ears. Now the outlay at the barber's is mounting.

Junior wants his hair short and straight up. None of these sissy waves or smooth long strands for him. It must preserve an appearance of fright. And it must be clipped as frequently as a well-kept summer lawn.
Younger fathers, remembering struggles with a pompadour, nightly use of a stocking-cap to influence its growth, may be pained by this radical trend. But their fathers, mildly stroking heads from which the cause of such concern has vanished, will smile over the importance attached to such transitory adornment.

The Soothsayers

By STEWART ALSOP
WITH THE strongest measure the most enthusiastic price controller could devise, it would be no easy task to clamp controls back on farmers and businessmen of the United States who have tasted the sweet delights of the free market. It is this which makes so interesting the conclusions reached at a recent series of three meetings, attended by a special elite of U.S. government economists, who met to peer into what a future without price controls, or with ineffective price controls, might mean.

It does not require the memory of an elephant to know that the government economists are capable of error. Yet their influence in the government, though largely unrecognized, is still vast: as certain Roman Emperors, dizzied by the complex business of running the empire, came to rely on their favorite soothsayers, so the top men of the American government turn to the economists for a glimpse of the future.
If the economists have sometimes been wrong, they have more often been right.
And what makes the conclusions reached at the series of three meetings worth pondering is the fact that all the men saw the shape of the future, within certain broad limits, in much the same way.

MOREOVER, some of the best technical minds in the government were represented. Among those attending the meetings were Jacob Mosak and Walter Salant of the Office of Economic Stabilization, Donald Wallace and Richard Heflebower of O.P.A., Joseph Mehan and Louis Paradise of Commerce, Richard Bissell, Everett Hagen and William Remington of O.W.M.R., and Arthur Smithies of the Bureau of the Budget.

All the men agreed (and their predictions are already being painfully substantiated) that there would be sharp rises right away in the basic agricultural commodities, where the market is most free. But in what in the economists' lingo is called "the administered industries"—those in which a small group of managers determine prices—there would be a sort of breathing space, a few weeks of hesitation while the managers sized up the markets. Then, whether from cupidity or necessity, prices in these industries too would begin to go up in earnest.
By November, it is of political interest to note, consumers should begin to feel the pinch in no uncertain manner.

IT IS PARTICULARLY interesting that none of the men foresaw really catastrophic inflation on the continental scale: it is a relief to know that some of the horror stories which have been circulating are probably exaggerated. The dollar will be worth less, but at least bills on the street will not increase the work load of street cleaners.
Estimates (or rather informed guesses) of the peak of inflation ranged between 25 per cent and 50 per cent above the present cost of living. Some of the men believed that this peak would be reached early in the spring of 1947, while others did not believe that it would come until next autumn.

But they all expected that some time next year the bubble would burst. They were sure that the collapse would not be another 1929, but would be temporary, and probably would not last for more than a year. Beyond that, none of the economists cared to commit themselves. The upswing might last a long time. Then again it might not.

AS TO WHAT might happen under a weak compromise bill there was less unanimity. Some optimists believed that if O.P.A.
were restored, something close to the recent price line could be regained and held without major bulges. Others were more skeptical, pointed to the difficulties of administration and of reimposing controls, and stated their opinion that the difference between O.P.A. and no O.P.A. was a matter of degree: O.P.A. was a sort of tentative insurance, no sure thing but a fairly good bet. But all the men were agreed that reasonably strong price control was the only hope for avoiding another great wave of strikes.

That is the centre of the price control crisis, as C.I.O. President Phillip Murray has made abundantly clear. All the economists foresee the shape of the future in much the same way. What they see is not encouraging, but on the face of it, it does not spell catastrophe. Painful as it might be, the economy of the country could survive the kind of moderate inflation which the economists predict in a future without strong price control.

BUT IF THE cost of living rises steeply there will surely be strikes, as bitter and prolonged as those of last winter. The question is whether the scars left by yet another wave of strikes, following so close on the last, would ever really heal. This country has never been so deeply divided politically as many European countries have been. But another great series of strikes might well create such bitter division.

From Arden Oaks

From the Winnipeg Free Press
From England comes a little paragraph that sends our minds back to the stirring days of Queen Elizabeth and the unity that binds the British race together across the gulf of many generations.

The forest of Arden, in which Shakespeare romped as a boy, is to be stripped of 1,000 or so of its aged oaks to help rebuild the House of Commons.

Thus does the perished beauty of England rise anew, with the help of forests that have stood immutable in their majesty since the challenge of the Armada and the Nazis.

The race changes; dynasties moulder to decay; war's annals fade into night; but nature remains, ready to repair the damage wrought by man.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Analyst

Hats off to the rules committee of the Paris Peace Conference for its action in voting to allow the press free access to proceedings of this meeting so important to the rehabilitation of Europe and consequently to world stability.

It was State Secretary Byrnes of the United States who made the motion for freedom of the press and—strange to report—
he was supported immediately
by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov. It hasn't been often that the American and Soviet statesmen have found immediate agreement on any subject, and so this was a notable occasion.
It was particularly noteworthy because Russia's ideas about freedom of the press are quite different from those of the western democracies. Moscow doesn't believe in allowing publication of anything which the government disapproves.

An American source quoted
Mr. Molotov as saying that some Soviet proposals had been reported inaccurately recently. The Foreign Minister thought this could be remedied if reporters were allowed to attend committee meetings. Thus with the sponsorship of two of the world's powerful countries, the press finally got a break.

And the significance of this?
Well, freedom of the press is the most accurate barometer there is by which to gauge the freedom of the peoples concerned. If there is no freedom of the press there is repression of other rights.

It's to be hoped that the pres-

BLOOMING CEREUS

I was much interested to read in your Victoria Nature Talks column, of July 25, the mention and illustration of one of the most gorgeous plants that ever was created, night blooming Cereus.

I shall make a point to call on
Mr. Jack MacKay, 220 Dennison and see the plant which you show.

In Honolulu, which was my home for over 30 years, there are herds of the Cereus plants and the longest hedge I know of is at least 2,500 feet in length, along two sides of the grounds of Punahou School.

This hedge blooms several times a month, generally in June,
July and August and, I believe,

British Commons Flares Over Lords

LONDON (CP) — The Labor government's back-bench members took part in a House of Commons flare-up early Tuesday as the House considered a House of Lords amendment to a clause dealing with the composition of the Air Transport Advisory Council in a civil aviation bill.

Government supporters challenged a division which resulted in an agreement with the Lords by 151 votes to 30.

F. G. Bowles, Labor member for Nuneaton, said he had been "suspicious" for some time that there was a tendency on the part of the ministers to "give something away in the Lords to ease the passage of a bill through that unelected assembly." Mr. Bowles declared the situation which he charged existed was, in effect, a form of "blackmail arising from the existence of the Lords."

L. Mikardó, Labor member for Reading, said, "This is an unprecedented situation in which the power of this chamber representing the views of the people is being set to naught by a gathering of some two or three score gentlemen in the Lords who have risen up the ladder of fame by getting their grandfathers to start at the bottom."

In the course of the debate police removed from the public gallery a woman who shouted "Quisling" and "Separation for Scotland" when M. K. MacMillan, Labor member for the Western Isles, supported the government in refusing to set up a separate air company for Scotland.

The clash over the aviation bill kept the House in session almost until dawn.

The amendment from the Lords which the House refused to accept was one which would have created an associate company to operate internal airways in Scotland.

JAP WOMEN BOIL BUTTER

TOKYO (AP)—Notified that butter from abroad was to be distributed, women of a Tokyo suburb, not at all sure what butter was, showed up to get it with beer bottles, sake bottles or stray bags.

One expected to get oil and another said she thought butter would be chips of wood.

One woman tried boiling it. When she saw it turn to "oil," she figured the problem was solved. She told other housewives and soon everyone in the

Admiral Brodeur Retires After Long Naval Service

Relinquishing his command at Esquimalt today, Rear-Admiral Victor G. Brodeur takes a last look at his rambling roses and rhododendrons in the garden at Dockyard House. He gives full credit to Victoria for his achievements as a gardener.

One of the Royal Canadian Navy's creators and staunchest supporters throughout 27 years of service, Rear Admiral V. G. Brodeur, C.B., C.B.E., R.C.N., leaves the naval service today on retirement leave. The 53-year-old chief of the Pacific Naval Command for the past three years saw a struggling navy grow into the world's fourth largest fleet at the end of the Second Great War.

Without ceremony, the admiral left H.M.C. Dockyard here and prepared to take up residence in Vancouver. The broad pennant neighborhood was busy boiling butter.

of Commodore E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., will fly from the administration building Aug. 1.

Admiral Brodeur entered the naval service of Canada as a cadet in 1909 and served throughout World War I as a lieutenant in light and heavy cruisers of the Royal Navy. In 1920 he was appointed to a gunnery course in England and while at the Devonport gunnery school he invented a training appliance that was accepted by the British Admiralty.

ORGANIZED RESERVES

He returned to Canada as staff officer to the Director of Naval Service and became one of the pioneers in the organization of the naval reserves of Canada. At present there are 20 divisions.

In 1926 following his promotion to commander, Admiral Brodeur was appointed commander in charge at Halifax.

December, 1929, saw the admiral in command of H.M.C.S. Champlain. He spent almost three years at sea during this command. In January, 1931, he was appointed as first commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Skeena.

His first appointment as Commander in Charge at Esquimalt came in 1932 and he remained here until late in 1934 when he joined the Mediterranean fleet aboard H.M.S. Durban.

In 1936, the admiral was promoted to captain and after completing a course at the Imperial Defence College was appointed captain (D) of R.C.N. destroyers. It was under Admiral Brodeur's command that H.M.C.S. Fraser and H.M.C.S. St. Laurent were brought to Canada. He later took these ships to England to participate in the coronation ceremonies in May, 1937.

RETURNED TO COAST

In 1939 Admiral Brodeur returned to the west coast as Commanding Officer, Pacific Coast, with the rank of captain, and in 1940 was appointed as naval attaché to Washington in 1940. In 1941 he was promoted to his present rank of Rear-Admiral, and appointed to the Canadian Joint Staff in the U.S. capital.

In recognition of outstanding service the Admiral was awarded the C.B.E. in 1942.

With the Pacific Coast expanding its naval installations for training and building, preparing for battle against Japan, Admiral Brodeur returned to the west coast again as commanding officer with headquarters at Jericho Beach, Vancouver. The command moved back to H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt, in November, 1945.

In the past year, the admiral was also appointed Inspector General of Ordnance for the Royal Canadian Navy.

Alberta Liquor Ration

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's liquor ration will remain unchanged for the present, J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, said Tuesday.

In Winnipeg Monday it was announced rationing will be all but lifted. Rye goes from two bottles a month to a maximum of two a day and six bottles of wine a day will be allowed.

In Alberta gin, rum and beer are unrationed. Four bottles of wine a month are allowed. Two bottles of whiskey a month may also be obtained.

Mr. King said that at present there was no intention of changing the existing quotas.

August Wine Ration Increased By Third

B.C. permit holders in August may purchase 50 per cent more wine than in July, W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the B.C. Liquor Control Board, announced today.

Only other increase in the August ration from July was a 10-per cent boost in the draught beer quota for beer parlors. Mr. Kennedy said, however, the "take-out" beer quota for beer parlors had been cut from one dozen pints for every four gallons of draught beer to one dozen for every six gallons.

Gin continues unrationed.

The wine ration is now three bottles imported or one and one-half gallons domestic.

Nova Scotia Apple Crop Prospect Improves 26%

HALIFAX (CP) — Improved crop conditions have caused orchardists to estimate the 1946 Nova Scotia apple crop at a figure 26 per cent higher than a month ago, the Department of Agriculture reported Tuesday. Latest estimate of the apple harvest is 5,650,000 bushels.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU—An official dressing-down, and maybe a ticket, is the fate of Nelson Carman, right above, 22-year-old former U.S. Seabee who hit a power line pole near Baldwin, L.I., with his converted "recon" car, broke it off and carried it 350 feet before he could stop. No one was injured in the accident.

Ottawa To Investigate V.L.A. Housing Cost Here

Immediate investigation into the sale of Veterans' Land Act homes in Victoria was promised by Minister of Veterans' Affairs, Ian Mackenzie, in a letter received yesterday from Ottawa by the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee. This action comes following a survey made by the Victoria and District Zone Council of the Canadian Legion when it was learned the Braefoot Estate V.L.A. houses, which had been promised veterans for $4,800 were being sold to them for $7,636.

C.S.U., Shipowners Agree On Hiring Halls

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union-management agreement for hiring of British Columbia ocean-going seamen through union halls was signed here Tuesday and the new system will come into effect next Thursday.

James Thompson, chief of the Canadian Seamen Union (T.L.C.) here, announced signing of the agreement with the Shipowners' Association of B.C., and said eastern shipowners were expected to follow suit almost immediately.

ht C.S.U. will provide the seamen to man Vancouver's 46 10,000-ton freighters.

Mr. Thompson also said a complete new C.S.U. agreement covering all Canadian 10,000-ton freighters probably would be negotiated here within a month, rather than in the east, as previously scheduled.

Delegation Angry Of Tardy Opening Of Saanich Council

Angry talk filled the hallway outside the Saanich municipal council chambers Tuesday night when 11 men, most of them believed to be taxpayers, waited until 9:40 before the regular meeting of the council, scheduled to start at 8:30, got under way.

No action was taken, although talk of marching into the council chamber in a body was heard, as well as numerous complaints. "They can't do this," one man said. Another muttered: "These secret sittings must be stopped." And still another: "They are violating regulations set down in the Municipal Act."

When the doors were opened finally to the spectators Reeve A. G. Lambrick apologized for the delay in starting, stating: "We are sorry to keep you waiting. We could not open the council meeting until this time." It was learned from one councillor that the secret or committee meeting had started shortly after 7.

After dealing with a 24-item agenda, the council voted to go into committee again, and the spectators who waited to go into the meeting left the council chamber at approximately 11:30.

Commissioner Named

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell Tuesday afternoon announced the appointment of Judge J. C. Reynolds of Kingston, Ont., as an industrial disputes inquiry commissioner to investigate the dispute which led up to the present strike at the Canadian Westinghouse Co. Ltd., Hamilton.

There are approximately 4,000 employees involved in the strike, which began July 5.

There are at least 250 different kinds of violets.

Complain Of Small Water Pressure In Saanich Districts

Everything possible is being done to give an adequate water supply to those districts of Saanich serviced with mains, Reeve A. G. Lambrick said at a meeting of the municipal council Tuesday night when complaints were received from two districts that taps would not run during certain hours of the day because pressure was lacking.

The complaints came in a petition from residents in the area of the intersection of West Saanich Road and Old West Saanich Road, and in a letter from a resident on McAnnally Road.

The petition presented by C. A. Holloway said the water supply in their district was grossly inadequate. In fact, it was so bad that at times during the day there was insufficient water to flush toilets. There was no water to fight fires, either, and one recent grass fire had to be beaten out.

The petitioners spoke of promises made to them last summer by the municipal council that something would be done to relieve the situation. Nothing had been done, though, they said.

Reeve Lambrick replied: "If there is anything that can be done to supply water to any district in the municipality, this council is doing it."

His suggestion that the matter be referred to the superintendent of works and the foreman of the water department was approved by the rest of the council.

The resident of McAnnally Road wrote that a similar condition existed in that district and said taxpayers deserved some consideration. He also complained of lack of proper road maintenance.

Reeve Lambrick said he would be notified that everything was being done that could be done.

Saanich Accused Of Turning Cold Shoulder To Veterans

A claim that some firemen recently appointed to the Saanich fire department, who were not ex-servicemen and who did not have any fire-fighting experience were chosen in preference to applicants who were veterans and who did not have experience, will be investigated by the municipal council.

P. Martin made the claim to the municipal council Tuesday night, and asked that full information be given him on four appointments recently made, so that the matter could be turned over to the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Martin addressed the council when Reeve A. G. Lambrick asked spectators at the meeting if they included any delegations waiting to speak.

"My request has already been turned down by letter but I'd still like to speak," Mr. Martin said, jumping to his feet.

"I understand fellows from the services would be given first chance when it came to choosing firemen but on recent appointments, some men were accepted who were not veterans and who did not have any experience," he said.

"I've seen the Legion and I plan on following this thing through."

Reeve Lambrick said he would look into the matter and agreed to meet Mr. Martin or representatives from the Legion and explain the procedure followed in making the appointments.

"What about appointments in other departments, too," said another spectator.

"That will be enough," the Reeve said, closing the subject.

Saanich Butchers To Shut Wednesdays

Voting against Reeve A. G. Lambrick's recommendation, the Saanich Council on Tuesday night called for the draughting of a by-law which would give butchers in the municipality the right to close their stores all day on Wednesdays.

Reeve Lambrick thought the matter should be tabled and an investigation made on whether or not grocers wanted similar legislation.

"That's exactly what the butchers don't want us to do," said Councillor J. W. Casey. "They want action and we have not had any similar requests from grocers."

The butchers of the municipality requested the council at its last meeting to introduce a by-law giving them a five-day week. The matter was tabled for investigation.

Councillor Casey reported butchers in the inner wards all wanted to close their stores on Wednesdays. He said it was through this action that they could comply with the 44-hour week regulation.

Councillor J. Len Hobbs said butchers he had approached in the outer districts all were in favor of closing on Wednesdays.

Councillor Casey added that the butchers did not mind the sale of cooked meats and bacon from grocery stores on Wednesdays. They only were interested in a regulation stopping sale of fresh meat, beef, veal, mutton, lamb and pork, on Wednesdays.

Saanich Land Sale This Year $19,364

Sale of reverted lands by Saanich municipality in the first six months of the year amounted to $19,364, which was less than $1,000 under the estimated receipts for the whole of the year, Councillor J. Len Hobbs, chairman of the finance committee, reported to the municipal council Tuesday night.

"We are keeping fairly close to our budget, except that we have been slightly extravagant in donations to charities," the councillor said in presenting a seven-page financial statement for the year so far which was tabled in order that it could be studied by the rest of the council.

The $19,364 figure for this year compared with $11,314 collected in the first half of 1945 from sale of reverted lands.

Water sales this year were more than $4,000 higher than those of the corresponding period last year. But water purchased this year was less than in the first six months of 1945. This was due to increased use of municipal wells, Councillor Hobbs said.

Tax collections were $104,846. Estimated collection for the year was $382,108. Collection in the first six months of 1945 were $106,901.

Saanich Rejects Plea For Rose's Release

The Saanich council on Tuesday night took no action and did not discuss a request for support of a resolution to Prime Minister Mackenzie King demanding the release of Fred Rose on bail pending his appeal of a six-years' sentence on a conspiracy charge.

The request came from the Fred Rose Defense Committee, Room 105, Shelly Building, Vancouver.

"When men are charged in the press and pronounced guilty before being subjected to the processes of law, as has been the case with Fred Rose, M.P., it is time for those who value their democratic rights to voice their protests in no uncertain manner," the committee wrote.

Saanich Will Help Drain School Field

Saanich will pay one-third of the cost of draining the grounds of the new Cedar Avenue School, the municipal council decided to inform the Greater Victoria Board of School Trustees Tuesday night.

The board asked that the municipality pay half and said 450 feet of drain would have to be laid which would cost $960.

Sixty-five acres of land drained through the school property and a storm drain of a size large enough to carry the large volume of drain water was urgently required before the autumn.

Oranges were first brought into Europe from China by the Portuguese in 1547.

Clifford D. Reid To Work In London

Clifford D. Reid, inspector in charge of Canadian immigration here, will leave Aug. 11 for London, Eng., where he will assist the immigration department there in dealing with the large number of British applications for entry into Canada.

It is expected Mr. Reid will be in London for a year before returning to resume his duties here. During Mr. Reid's absence, J. A. Anderson, senior immigration inspector, will take charge of immigration here.

Red Cross Continues Aid To Chinese

The Canadian Red Cross, which in the past has done much to help the Chinese people, is continuing the work through a committee set up recently there to administer the Canadian Chinese War Relief contributions.

Dr. A. Stewart Allen of Montreal, who recently returned to Canada after establishing the committee, has listed some of the work already done by the Canadian Red Cross in this field. Through its name and facilities it assisted the Canadian Chinese War Relief Fund to raise $2,111,089, and from this money had made purchases and shipments to China for the Canadian Chinese War Relief.

The Canadian Red Cross has assisted in equipping the personnel of the Friends' Ambulance Unit, and had made a gift of $180,000 to the work in China.

Total value of hospital supplies donated by Red Cross women workers amounted to $182,989, and to date the Canadian Red Cross itself has furnished $285,469 for Chinese relief work.

Dr. Allen said that the Red Cross had made available six scholarships to the College of Medicine and Dentistry of the West China University, and four additional scholarships for dental students. These scholarships, valued at $2,000 each, will enable the 10 winners to study in Canada and take back their knowledge to help their countrymen. This money is part of a further allocation of $75,000, the rest of which will be used to purchase medical and hospital supplies and for relief work in China.

Barracks Routine Today For Esquimalt Wrens

Today marked the termination of wartime duties for the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service and for the seven remaining Wrens at Moresby House I, Esquimalt, and their commanding officer, Lieut. Phyllis McKay.

The huge barracks, which was taken over by the navy during the war and transformed from the old Coach and Horses Inn into accommodation for members of the W.R.C.N.S., was nearly deserted today as trucks took away the remaining equipment and the Wrens and Lieut. McKay went through "barracks routine." This means visiting various naval offices to obtain a release from duty.

Wrens have been leaving Esquimalt gradually for the past two months, Lieut. McKay, whose home is in Portage La Prairie, will leave tonight for a holiday in Vancouver, returning later to Victoria to take a position in accountancy at the Naval Dockyard.

Of the remaining Wrens, May Quinlan of Ottawa is leaving for the U.S., where she will be married and the others are en route to their homes in all parts of Canada. Leaving Moresby I today were PO, Hilda Dove of St. John's, Newfoundland; PO, Margaret Watt of Bevin, B.C.; Ldg. Wren Mollie Kuzminski, Winnipeg; Ldg. Wren Teddy Longpre of Regina; Ldg. Wren Inez Vickery of Calgary and Wren Lynn Anderson of Montreal.

A small party Tuesday evening wound up social activities at the barracks, with Capt. and Mrs. C. D. Donald and Cmdr. and Mrs. Ronald Jackson as special guests.

From a tiny nucleus of 67 young Canadian women in the first class, in August, 1942, the W.R.C.N.S. expanded its total enlistments just slightly more than 10-fold to 6,783. Of this number 5,893 were on active service at one time, in April, 1945, when the organization reached its peak strength.

The largest group of Wrens consisted of general duty writers and large numbers of others served as messengers, mess-women, wardroom attendants and cooks. Through the months and years of their service, the Wrens undertook a continually increasing number of duties. They became motor transport drivers, laundry assistants, teletype operators, visual signallers, wireless operators, coders, sick berth attendants, switchboard operators, radar operators, sailmakers, operational plotters, stores assistants, postal clerks, draftsmen, training assistants and even electrical artificers.

London Collection Bought Outright

LONDON (Reuter)—Luxury airways outfits for chic women will fly between the world's capitals, consisting of a perfectly co-ordinated dress, suit and top-coat in three weights of wool, are featured in the export collection of the leading London designer, Peter Russell, which was shown to the press today.

Russell, who is busy filling orders for Canadian clients, said that his new collection, designed for "the snows of Canada and America," already had been "bought outright" and that a duplicate had also been "bought outright."

On the theory that bright colors are best against a snowy background, Russell showed several examples of his interchangeable traveling ensembles in arresting autumn and winter shades—notably banana yellow combined with black and again with light blue, and monotonous of his new shades, winter lilac, a muted tint with overtones of grey and pomegranate, a rich burnt orange.

More Opportunities For Working Women

MONTREAL (CP)—An agreement on the need "to reduce and finally eliminate the traditional limitations on the work opportunities of women," has been reached by eight members of the committee on women's work of the International Labor Organization who have been meeting at I.L.O. headquarters here from July 8 to July 13, it was announced today.

The eight members, experts in the field of women's work, agreed that "women themselves must show the same readiness to participate in the full range of their country's and world economic needs . . . as they did on the advisory committees and boards for development of war production."

The display of military insignia started in medieval times.

Crowded Closets Expandable

Clothes-crushing closets, which crack tempers, cause family feuds and shorten the life expectancy of hard-to-replace clothes, are the results of congested housing conditions, but unlike jam-packed houses and apartments, closets are expandable.

They are, if you'll ferret out hidden space to use and will re-organize the closet contents. First move is to remove everything from the closet, decide exactly what you must continue to shelter and what could be given away or stored in boxes.

Second move is to rip out the shelves above the rod on which your garments hang. Lower the rod you've got several inches and run another one parallel to it, three inches from the ceiling, to give you a double-decker for storing more clothes. Dresses not in current circulation should be relegated to the top rod where they are hung on hangers attached to long poles for easy reaching.

Third move is to organize what's left. Shun such space consumers as garment bags unless they're absolutely necessary for off-season clothes storage. All outdoor clothing goes to the entrance hall closet.

Remove shoes from shine-damaging floor dust and line them up in a rack which can be hung on the door. If you have more shoes than storage space, packing them heel to toe doubles the number you can get in the space. Gloves go in a box at the top of the shoe rack and handbags rest in a slotted wooden frame, also hung on the door. Bonnets are housed efficiently in dustproof boxes.

Shortages To Remain

OTTAWA (CP)—For Canadian Housewives harried by shortages around the kitchen, government officials today hold out little hope of immediate relief on three items—sugar for canning, soap chips and paper bags.

Of the three scarce items, the prospects are best for more sugar, but even that hope has little chance of being fulfilled in time to aid housewives who haven't enough sugar to can peaches and other late summer fruits, officials say.

Bridesmaid By Proxy

MIDDLESBROUGH, Yorkshire, England (CP Cable)—Margaret and Joan Burnett, 23-year-old twins from this town who went to the same school, entered nursing together and served in the same hospital together, will be parted for the first time Friday when Margaret flies to Canada to marry LAC William Hunden, R.C.A.F., of Vancouver.

The twins made a pact years ago that when one married the other should be her bridesmaid and they have decided on the next best thing—Joan will be bridesmaid by proxy.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Dorothy Dix — I am a widow with two children. After my husband died I went back to my people to live. My father is rich and is willing to support me, but my mother and my sisters and brothers resent my presence and think that I should go to work in order to support my children and myself. Please tell me what to do.

MISERABLE WIDOW.

Answer—If your father is not willing to give you enough money to live independently upon, away from your mother and brothers and sisters, the best thing you can do is to go to work and learn some way of supporting yourself and your children.

Ask your father to give you a course in some business or technical school so that you may decide yourself in any work you decide to do, and be an expert who can command a good salary. You will be happier when you are a busy, self-supporting woman than you are now, eating the bread of dependence and having to endure your family's unkind reproaches.

5 Peace Treaties Would Ask $1,000,000,000 Reparations

Italian Forces Face Slashing To Token Size

PARIS (AP)—A master plan to strip Italy and other Axis satellites of their military might, will them for $1,000,000,000 in reparations, reshuffle their frontiers and require them to guarantee "fundamental freedoms" was disclosed tonight with publication of five proposed peace treaties drafted by the four-power Foreign Ministers.

The treaties, prepared by Britain, the United States, Russia and France, will be considered at the 21-power peace conference in Paris.

The treaty drafts covered only phases on which the Foreign Ministers Council, at its recent Paris meeting, had reached an agreement. Matters on which no agreement was reached—such as the United States' demand for free trade on the Danube—were omitted.

Treaties with Germany and Japan will not be considered until the Allies deem those countries ready for full self-government.

Italy's once boasted war machine would be slashed almost to comic-opera size and the Mussolini empire that threatened to rival Caesar's would be trimmed to be a thin boot by the draft of the proposed Italian peace treaty.

$100,000,000 DEBT
On these and other penalties for making war—notably the payment of $100,000,000 in reparations to Russia—Britain, the United States, Russia and France were agreed in the recommended treaty.

But other disputed questions, such as the boundaries of the suggested free territory of Trieste and reparations due to France, Yugoslavia, Greece and other victims of Italy's participation in the war were left open, although the United States offered its own solution to the Trieste question.

The treaty would limit Italy to an army of 185,000 men and 65,000 carabinieri (military police). Her 1939 army had 2,240,000 men and 5,175,000 trained reservists. In place of her "mare nostrum" navy of 717,420 tons, Italy is allowed two battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers, 16 torpedo boats, and 20 corvettes and minor vessels. She is stripped of the more than 130 submarines she had before the war.

Italy's air force would be slashed to 200 fighter and reconnaissance planes and 150 transport and training aircraft.

The treaty provides also that Italy give up title to her African territorial possessions, future control of which will be decided by the four powers represented on the foreign ministers' council within a year after the proposed treaty comes into force.

France would get five thin slices of territory now on the Italian side of the two countries' border, but Italy is guaranteed access to hydro-electric power sources in the lost Alpine areas.

Yugoslavia would get "all territory east of a line known as the French line" in Italy—the line France proposed after an Allied commission surveyed the area—as well as the Commune of Zara and a group of islands in the Trieste area of the Adriatic Sea.

DOCEANESSE TO GREECE
Greece would acquire the Dodecanese Islands, which British troops are to vacate within 90 days after ratification of the treaty. Italy waives all claims against Albania and Ethiopia, as well as her commercial interests in China.

Like other former enemy states for which draft treaties were prepared, Italy may seek membership in the United Nations upon signing the treaty.

Of Italy's disputed northeastern boundary, the 78-article treaty draft says:

"The council of foreign ministers agreed that all territory east of the line known as the French line shall be ceded by Italy to Yugoslavia and the free territory of Trieste shall be constituted within the French line, bounded on the north by a line drawn from Duino to the French line."

The draft provides that Italy "shall take all measures necessary to secure to all persons under Italian jurisdiction, without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion, the enjoyment of human rights, including freedom of expression, of the press and publication, of religious worship, of political opinion and of public meetings."

Of Trieste, the draft continues:

"The integrity and indepen-

Question Of Border Between Bulgaria, Greece Unanswered

PARIS (AP)—The proposed Bulgarian peace treaty drafted by the four-power foreign ministers leaves unanswered the questions of the Bulgarian-Greek frontier and the amount of reparations which Bulgaria must pay to Yugoslavia and Greece.

The ministers recommended that Bulgarian frontiers follow those which existed Jan. 1, 1941, but attached a footnote recommending that the Greek-Bulgarian frontier be considered tentative "until the governments of Greece and Bulgaria have had an opportunity to present to the peace conference or to the council of foreign ministers their respective views on this subject."

Bulgaria, which also fought against the Allies in the First Great War, lost her Thracian territory to Greece in the treaty which ended that conflict. Some of this territory was "assigned" back to Bulgaria by the Germans when they entered that country March 3, 1941.

The foreign ministers recommended that Bulgaria be forced to pay only part of the losses which her military operations caused to Yugoslavia and Greece. The ministers were unable to agree, however, on the amount to be paid, and said the final decision should be deferred pending discussion of the matter with Greece and Yugoslavia.

Bulgaria declared war on Britain and the United States Dec. 13, 1941, but stated she was neutral in the German-Russian war. Russia refused to recognize this neutrality and declared war on Bulgaria.

The little country of 6,700,000 population left the side of the tottering Nazis Sept. 5, 1944, and asked for an armistice. Two days later, she declared war on Germany.

34,400-Man Finnish Army, Small Navy Proposed In Peace Pact

PARIS (AP)—Limitation of Finland's armed forces to small, inoffensive units designed for local defence is recommended in the council of Foreign Ministers' draft of a peace treaty between Allied countries and Finland, Germany's partner in the war against Russia and Great Britain.

The treaty draft to be submitted to the Paris Peace Conference would limit the Finnish land army to a total strength of 34,400 personnel. The draft proposed a Finnish navy limited to a personnel strength of 4,500 and a total tonnage of 10,000, and an air force, including the naval air arm, of 60 aircraft including reserves and personnel of 3,000.

A further restriction imposed by the treaty would forbid Finland from acquiring aircraft designed primarily as bombers with internal bomb-carrying facilities.

Designed to strip Finland of any ability to wage effective warfare, the treaty also would accord Russia a 50-year lease on Porkkala-Udd to establish a naval base and would cede outright to Russia the northernmost Finnish province of Petsamo, with its ice-free Arctic ocean port of the same name, giving the Soviet Union an opportunity to exploit Arctic Ocean shipping throughout the year.

Surrender of Petsamo, on the Russian-Finnish border, is in accordance with the Russian-Finnish armistice signed Sept. 19, 1944.

The treaty draft takes into consideration the fact that Finland, the only Axis partner with which the United States was not at war, withdrew from the Second Great War before Germany's fall.

BEARS RESPONSIBILITY
Stating that Finland "bears her share of responsibility for this war," the treaty draft pre-empted voices an Allied desire of "concluding an Allied desire of peace which will form the basis of friendly relations between them and settle questions still outstanding."

denge of this free territory shall be assured by the security council of the United Nations. A special commission representing the four powers of the foreign ministers' council shall be immediately appointed to consult with representatives of Yugoslavia and Italy and to examine the whole subject and present preliminary suggestions to the peace conference. A permanent statute shall be submitted for the approval of the security council which will report to the general assembly of the United Nations.

"Recommendations for a provisional government and for the formation of a permanent statute shall be made by the peace conference of 21 nations in accordance with the procedure adopted at the Moscow conference.

The draft provides further slavia be "not in full, but only in part."

The proposed treaty authorizes Bulgaria to maintain a land army, including frontier troops, of 55,000 men; anti-aircraft artillery forces of 1,800 men; a navy of 3,500 men and ships with a tonnage totaling 7,250, and an air force of 90 planes, of which not more than 70 may be combat types, and 5,200 men.

The treaty would prohibit the military training of any persons not included in the above totals, and would prohibit the manufacture of war materials in excess of those required for the limited armed forces.

The treaty draft also states that Bulgaria must obtain for all its citizens "freedom of expression, of press and publication, of religious worship, of political opinion and of public meeting."

NOT DEMOCRATIC
Britain and the United States have contended that the present Communist-dominated Bulgarian government does not represent adequately all democratic elements of the country, and have refused to recognize the government, headed by Kimon Georgiev. State Secretary Brynes has said the United States would not conclude a peace treaty with the Bulgarian government, as now constituted.

Yielding to pressure of opposing groups, the Bulgarian government has announced that a constituent assembly will be elected Oct. 27. A referendum will be held Nov. 8 to decide whether the country will continue as a monarchy or become a republic. A council of regency has been acting for nine-year-old King Simeon II, who succeeded to the crown on the death of his father, King Boris, in 1943.

The treaty draft provides that all forces of the Allies shall be withdrawn from Bulgaria not later than 90 days after the signing of the treaty.

standing . . . thereby enabling Allied and associated powers to support Finland's application to become a member of the United Nations.

The draft recommends that reparations, to be paid to Russia, shall not be in full, but shall be limited to $300,000,000 payable over an eight-year period beginning Sept. 19, 1953. Payment shall be in commodities—including timber products, sea-going and river craft and sundry machinery.

Many of the terms previously had been agreed to by Russia and Finland in the Soviet-Finnish armistice. The armistice provided originally that the $300,000,000 reparations would be paid in six years. Generalissimo Stalin, at Finland's request, last Autumn amended the armistice provisions, allowing Finland eight years in which to pay.

LEASE CONFIRMED
Political clauses of the proposed treaty include one confirming the Russian renunciation of rights to lease the Peninsula of Hango in Southern Finland and confirmation by Finland of an annual 50-year Soviet lease at an annual rental of 5,000,000 Finnish marks (about $420,000) of the Porkkala-Udd site.

Another clause stipulates that the Aaland Islands at the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia, between Sweden and Finland, shall remain demilitarized.

The defeated country, the draft proposes, "must take all measures necessary to secure to all persons under Finnish jurisdiction, without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion, the enjoyment of human rights and of the fundamental freedoms, including freedom of expression, of the press and publication, of religious worship, of political opinion and of public meeting."

With a wary eye toward the Germany of the future, the drafters inserted a clause pledging Finland "to co-operate fully with the United Nations in order to ensure Germany may not be able to take any action outside German territory tending towards or facilitating her rearmament."

U.S. May Fight Huge Proposed Hungarian Debt

PARIS (AP)—The Big Four Allied powers propose in the draft of a peace treaty for Hungary that she pay a $300,000,000 reparations debt, but the United States reserves the right to fight imposition of this burden on the inflation-ridden former Axis partner.

While agreeing in the proposed treaty to crush Hungary to military midsize, the major powers apparently split on the price that that country must pay for sharing in Europe's destruction.

Russia claimed $200,000,000 worth of Hungarian commodities, with another $100,000,000 worth going to Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. But the proposed treaty's only major footnote stated that the United States "reserves the right to reopen this question at the peace conference."

Hungary's armed forces, once large enough to contribute 700,000 men to Hitler's cause, will be shrunk to 1-10th of their pre-war size under the treaty's military provisions. Of these 70,000 men, the treaty specifies 5,000 as the maximum personnel for an air force of 90 planes.

RUSSIAN TROOPS STAY
Another treaty clause assures the continued presence of Russian troops, blamed by the Foreign Secretaries of the United States and Britain as contributing to Hungary's economic chaos. Proclaiming Russia's right to protect her communication lines to the Soviet-occupied zone of Austria, the treaty specifies that Russia may keep "such armed forces it may need" in Hungary.

Other Allied forces are to be withdrawn within 90 days of the signing of the treaty.

Hungary's frontiers will revert to pre-war dimensions, with Hungary returning to Romania half of Transylvania it received in the German redistribution of European territory nearly six years ago.

The United States' concern over Hungary's economic position is expressed in a note after this reparations clause:

"Losses caused to the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia by military operations and by occupation by Hungary of these states will be indemnified by Hungary to the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, but taking into consideration that Hungary has not only withdrawn from the war against the United Nations but has also declared war on Germany, the parties agree that compensation for the above losses will be made by Hungary not in full but only in part, namely, to the amount of 300,000,000 United States dollars payable over eight years from Jan. 20, 1945, in commodities (machinery, equipment, river craft, grain, etc.), the sum to be paid to the Soviet Union to amount to 200,000,000 United States dollars, and the sum to be paid to Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia to amount to 100,000,000 United States dollars."

The treaty specifically forbids Hungary's new air force to include bombers, but the 5,000 limit set on air force personnel represents a 500-man increase over the estimated strength of Hungary's pre-war air corps. Only 70 of 90 allotted planes may be combat-type aircraft.

RED ARMY TROOPS STAY
The treaty draft sets no restriction on the number of such troops.

Heads of diplomatic missions of Russia, the United States and Britain who now act as the Allied control council during the occupation, would continue to function for a period not to exceed 18 months as enforcers of the treaty. Article 35 provides:

"For a period not to exceed 18 months from the coming into force of the present treaty, the heads of diplomatic missions in Bucharest of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the United Kingdom and the United States, acting in concert, will represent the Allied and associated powers in dealing with the Romanian government in all matters concerning the execution and interpretation of the present treaty."

"The three heads of the missions will give the Romanian government such guidance and technical advice and clarification as may be necessary to ensure rapid and efficient compliance with the spirit and terms of the present treaty."

The lengthiest part of the draft are the economic clauses and debate in the peace conference is expected to focus on the conflicting viewpoints of Russia that "Italy shall not possess, construct or experiment with any self-propelled or guided missiles or apparatus connected with their discharge, any guns with a range of more than 30 kilometres (18.64 miles), sea mines of non-contact types actuated by influence mechanisms, or any torpedoes capable of being manned."

and the western powers. Only the sections on which all of the Big Four powers agreed were made public in the proposed treaty, but discussions at two previous meetings of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council disclosed wide differences.

Article 25 provides: "Romania recognizes that the Soviet Union is entitled to all German assets in Romania transferred by the control council for Germany and undertakes to take all necessary measures for facilitating such transfers."

Another economic clause provides that "Romania shall restore all the legal rights and interests in Romania of the United Nations and their nationals as they existed on June 22, 1941, and shall return all property in Romania, including ships of the United Nations and their nationals, as it now exists." A footnote states that inclusion of shipping was stipulated by Britain.

Another section requires Romania "to nullify all measures, including seizures, sequestration or control, taken by it against United Nations property between June 22, 1941, and the coming into force of the present treaty."

The "Vienna Award" of the Transylvania area to Hungary Aug. 30, 1940, was followed two weeks later by the abdication of King Carol and the rise to power of Premier Ion Antonescu.

On Oct. 19, 1940, the German occupation of Romania began under an invitation by Romania for help in reorganizing the Romanian army."

When Germany attacked Russia June 22, 1941, Antonescu proclaimed a "holy war" to regain Bessarabia from the Soviet Union. Romania ceased its resistance towards Russia Aug. 23, 1941, and entered the war against Germany.

Moscow Complains U.S. Has Best Seats

LONDON (CP)—The Moscow radio complained today that the United States had obtained the choice seats at the Paris peace conference, and also described the Australian proposal for equality of big and small countries attending the conference as a "clumsy game."

The radio said "it struck people" that exceptions had been made for some delegations in the seating arrangements, with the United States receiving front row accommodations, "although this does not correspond to the alphabetical seating."

(Paris dispatches said that the alphabetical system of seating resulted in United States Secretary Byrnes sitting on the extreme right of the conference hall, and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov sitting on the far left. The United States delegation was in the front row and the Russians in the eighth row. British representatives were in the fifth row centre.)

The broadcast was heard in London by the Soviet monitor.

Transylvania Will Be Returned To Romania If Terms Approved

PARIS (AP)—Romania will regain the rich Transylvania area taken by Hungary in 1940 under peace terms proposed unanimously by the Big Four Allied powers, but her wartime role of a German satellite will cost $300,000,000 in reparations to Russia.

Drafts of terms for consideration by the European peace conference disclosed that Romania, like other Balkan enemy countries, will be required to cut her navy and air forces to a fraction of prewar levels.

Figures proposed by the Foreign Ministers' Council are:

An army of 120,000 personnel (compared to an estimated 1,300,000 in 1939, including reserves); an air force of 150 planes and 8,000 personnel (compared to an estimated 1939 strength of 15,000); a navy of 15,000 tons and 5,000 personnel (compared to 3250 personnel estimated by Jane's in 1940); anti-aircraft artillery with 5,000 personnel.

Romania was forced by the Axis in 1940 to give Hungary more than half of Transylvania, an area totalling more than 12,000 square miles with an estimated 2,370,000 population. Under the proposed treaty the Axis-negotiated "Vienna Award" is nullified and the section, rich in minerals, farm lands and forests, will be returned to Romania.

Another article of the proposed treaty confirms the 1940 Soviet-Romanian agreement by which the U.S.S.R. was ceded Bessarabia and northern Bukovina.

ECONOMIC CLAUSES BROAD
The economic clauses in the proposed Romanian treaty were drawn in broad terms, leaving it to the peace conference to discuss such disputed points as the United States' demand for freedom of shipping on the Danube and Russia's desire for economic concessions in the Balkans.

Under terms on which Russia, the United States, Britain and France agreed, Romania will be required to restore all the legal rights and property of United Nations nationals, Allied and associated powers will be given the privilege of retaining any Romanian property seized "in the national interest" before Romania signed the armistice with the Allies Sept. 12, 1944, and turned against Germany.

Soviet Russia is the sole beneficiary from reparations. Under the proposed treaty, the U.S.S.R. would get $300,000,000 payable over eight years from Sept. 12, 1944 in commodities such as oil, grain, timber, sea-going and river craft and machinery.

The Romanian treaty, like the drafts for other former enemy states, gives Romania an opportunity eventually to become a member of the United Nations, but requires the government to guarantee its people "enjoyment of human rights and of fundamental freedoms, including the freedom of expression, of press and publication, of religious worship, of political opinion and of public meeting."

Within 90 days after the treaty becomes effective, the proposed agreement says, Allied occupation troops will be withdrawn "subject to the right of the Soviet Union to keep on Romanian territory such armed forces as it may need for the maintenance of lines of communication of the Red Army with the Soviet zone of occupation in Austria."

Says Peace Parley Futile Unless Given Worldwide Support

"The efforts of the current Paris Peace Conference will be futile unless worldwide support of human brotherhood is accorded it," said Dr. H. T. J. Coleman, retired U.B.C. professor, addressing the Kiwanis Club at Tuesday's luncheon meeting.

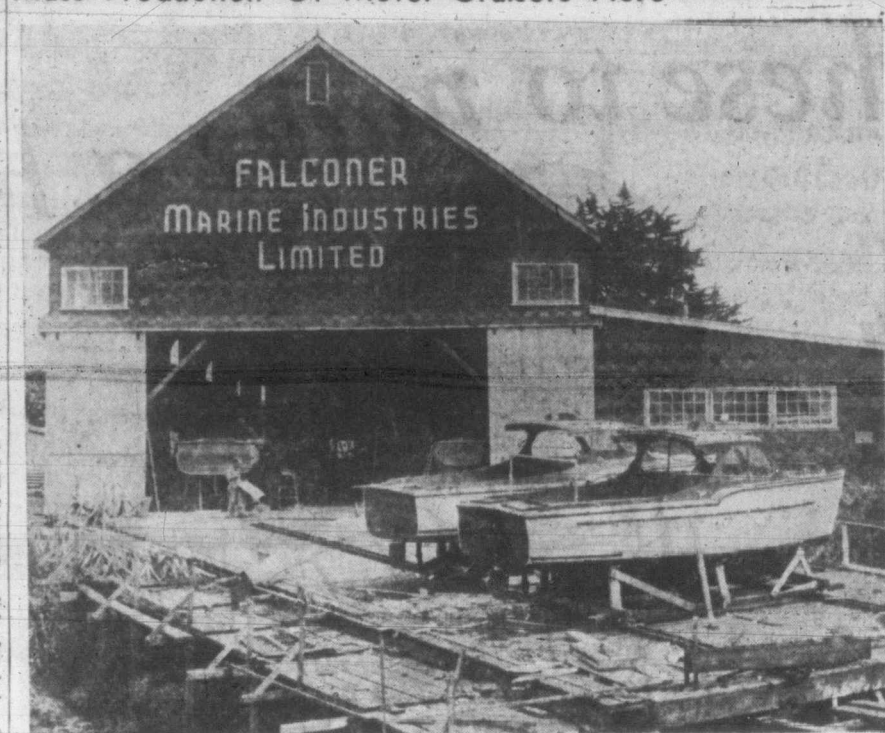

Dr. Coleman said it was vital that mankind think hard and constantly in the terms of mankind rather than as individuals, in order to lead the present torn world in a world society.

Fourteen members of the Port Angeles Kiwanis Club attended and were introduced by John Nicholson. It was the presence of this contingent of "Good Neighbors" which led to the "Star Spangled Banner" being sung by the luncheon gathering following the singing of the Canadian national anthem.

Mr. Nicholson, who said the Victoria club was the mother club of the Port Angeles charter, invited local Kiwanians to attend his unit's 25th anniversary celebration, in the form of an outdoor picnic Aug. 13.

Says Soviet 'Tyranny' In Europe Destroys Hope Of Peaceful World

A charge that "behind an iron curtain which blacks out half of Europe and Asia, men and nations are ground under the ruthless heel of totalitarian tyranny," was leveled at Soviet Russia, by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Donald A. MacLean, associate professor of Political and International Ethics, Catholic University of America, in the Royal Theatre, Tuesday night.

In an address titled "Pope Pius XII, Apostle of World Peace," and given in connection with the Centenary celebration of the diocese of Victoria, Msgr. MacLean told his audience that future world progress, welfare and peace hung on the establishment of world government.

"While communistic forces with their fifth column tactics are everywhere on the march, bent on extending the frontiers and domination of Soviet Russia, all hope of an ordered and peaceful world must ever remain a dream," he said. "You cannot do business with Nazism or Facism in building a free world or lasting peace."

'ATROCIOUS ACTIONS'
"The barbarous conduct of one of our major allies—Soviet Russia—with regard to many of her neighboring states, finds no parallel in history, neither can such atrocious action find a sanction either in international law or the moral law."

He continued: "Proud Baltic nations have dropped from sight. Poland, in whose defence the British Commonwealth entered the war, Yugoslavia, Albania, Romania, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia bespoiled and stripped of their national dignity and independence, are compelled to endure the harsh minority rule of puppet governments imposed on them by the menacing forces of Soviet Russia."

"Soviet continued aggressive domination over half of Europe and Soviet enslavement of those peoples must, while continued, ever destroy all hopes for a truly peaceful and democratic world," Msgr. MacLean said. "Communistic enslavement of nations, even though with the secret or public connivance of the Big Three nations, must ever spell the doom of world order or of a united, peaceful Europe."

Remaking of the map of the world is not exclusively the function of the major exponents of power politics, he contended, adding that much of the fruits of victory might be lost to humanity through the "Big Three" grab of that international authority which by natural right belongs to all the members of the world society.

"Along with the veto right, claimed by the big powers, this constitutes a fatal stab at the heart of global unity and genuine peace."

Progressive reduction everywhere of national military armaments and their replacements by judicial peace organizations backed by an international police force, was looked upon by Msgr. MacLean as a primary condition to the making of real peace.

'CULT OF MIGHT'
"If we really desire to end war, we should first renounce the cult of might," he said adding that success or failure of efforts for peace were conditioned on the acceptance or rejection of universal principles and ideals of the natural law and Christian morality. "Repudiation of Christian principles will inevitably plunge mankind into another and more catastrophic world war."

In opening his address, Msgr. MacLean said that Pope Pius XII, "may quite properly be regarded as the outstanding social and political reformer of the twentieth century." Total military victory had not brought peace to the world, he told his audience, adding that peace today seemed even more remote than at the end of the war.

He quoted Pope Pius as stating that the primary task of peace-makers was to put an end to the criminal war game.

"It is especially urgent that the danger of a clash between the major powers be avoided," he continued. "This calls for mutual understanding, intelligent co-operation and a large measure of goodwill from all concerned."

MORAL LAW
"Forgetfulness of God is the fundamental cause of the ills and crises that are today devastating the world and distressing humanity. Repudiation of the moral law in economic, social, national and international affairs inevitably engenders social disorder and confusion."

He told his audience "because of our lethargy, we have permitted Christ to be dubbed a neutral and consequently excluded from the peace-building process."

"The interests of the common people and of Christianity are identical. Both bear the major brunt of war and both should play a major role in the formulation and creation of world peace."

PROPERTY OWNERSHIP
Perfection of family life and of the world society is bound up with the widest possible diffusion of property ownership throughout the world," he said.

"Genuine social democracy demands that the natural right of the family to vital space, to a home or adequate housing be fully recognized. Social justice insists that industry, agriculture and finance function not for a few, or for the majority, but for the welfare of all."

Unified Transport Terms To Go To Four Councils Soon

Hope that a second meeting of the new five-man Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, slated to be held this week, would result in final approval of the draft specifications was expressed today by Ald. H. M. Diggon, committee chairman, following a meeting Tuesday.

"There was perfect accord in the meeting yesterday," he commented, "and we made several quite important, but minor changes in the draft specifications. One more meeting should see them in their final stage and ready for submission to the four councils of Greater Victoria."

The municipal representatives will sponsor resolutions approving the specifications through their respective councils he indicated, and authorizing the transportation committee to call for tenders for the unified system.

There was some discussion Tuesday on the question of the practicality of public ownership, Ald. Diggon said, but he is still waiting the report from the eastern expert who studied the question here some weeks ago.

"Regardless of whether we decide on public ownership of the system or a continuation of issuing a franchise to private companies, it is essential that we get the specifications in final form so we will know exactly what we want," he stated.

Attending the meeting were Ald. Diggon and Ald. W. L. Morgan for the city; Reeve A. G. Lambrick, Saanich; Reeve Thos. Hadfield, Esquimalt; Councillor R. A. Wooten, Oak Bay; E. S. Farr, transportation consultant; and A. J. Patton, city solicitor.

Morrison-Black Still In Title Golf Chase

EDMONTON (CP)—A golfing brigade of 64 including Canada's links elite teed off today in the second round of hectic firing of the first national amateur in six years with survival of the fittest as the rule.

Most of the fittest got by the first round yesterday with the exception of Vancouver's Lyle Hurschman, the British Columbia amateur champion who fell before the smooth Toronto veteran Phil Farley. And from the draw it appeared no major casualties would result today, at least not from the first 18 holes of today's 36-hole grind.

The field was reduced to youngsters and veterans and just plain hopeful unknowns. The "big" boys—defending champion Kenny Black of Vancouver, Nick Wisnock and his magic putter from Toronto, Guy Roland, the smooth Montrealer who holds the Quebec amateur crown and veterans Farley and Jack Nash of London, Ont.—were all still there. Bob Morrison, Victoria, had a bye in the first round.

Black meets Moncton's R. H. Harley in the opening 18 today while Farley is out with another New Brunswicker, D. J. Caughey of Algonquin. Montreal's Gordon Taylor, the 1932 amateur champion, meets Edmonton's W. C. Broadfoot and Wisnock, hockey-playing Bobby Carse who whipped Ingy Cameron of Edmonton 5 and 3.

Another of hockey's big-time operators trying his hand at golf was Bill Ezinicki of Winnipeg who beat J. Reynolds of Vancouver 7 and 6. He now meets Gerry Kesselring, the 17-year-old sensation from Kitchener who annexed the Canadian junior crown.

Farley had no trouble ousting Hurschman in yesterday's play 5 and 4. Though the British Columbia, who recently handed Black a defeat in the B.C. amateur, was outstriking him, Farley one-putted no less than five greens.

Black advanced with an easy 8 and 7 win over Kenny Pirie of Edmonton with a par card and Wisnock won 4 and 3 from J. H. Steele of Saint John's Riverside Club.

Alberta amateur champion Henry Martell defeated Ted Colgate of Vancouver and Victoria 4 and 3 despite a bit of a shaky start and Jack Nash easily mastered Bill Woods of Red Deer.

Brooklyn Beats Cards To Bolster National Lead

Leo Durocher's Brooklyn Dodgers are riding high today, bouncing along on a 3½ game lead with Howie Pollet, the best St. Louis Cardinal hurler, out of the way.

When Lippy Leo's dandies dumped Pollet in last night's series opener, 2 to 1, they struck a mighty blow in defence of their world series aspirations.

Eddie Dyer needed a clean sweep of the three-game set at Ebbetts Field to snatch first place from the precocious Dodgers, but now the best he can do is cut the margin to 1½ games by tomorrow night.

Rube Milton, Durocher's long shot starting choice, got home with his first victory of the season although he needed bullpen help from dependable Hanis Behrman in the ninth.

Chicago lost ground in the race by bowing to New York Giants, 3 to 2, on Toronto-born Goody Rosen's pinch hit single with the bases loaded in the ninth. As a result the bruins trail the Dodgers by 7½ lengths.

Interest in the American League turned to the second place battle between New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers as Boston Red Sox increased their lead to 12½ games by blanking Cleveland 4 to 0.

72-lb. Salmon Caught At Campbell River

According to records the first and still the largest tye taken on road and line at Campbell River was caught by Sir Richard Musgrave in 1896. It weighed 72 pounds. The largest fish caught under Tye Club rules is a 66½-pounder caught by Mrs. T. B. Randall, Vancouver, in 1941.

Mrs. George Warren of Victoria registered a salmon at 63½ pounds.

B. C. Tennis Play

Sutton Defeats Ryall

Play continued in the B.C. tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club yesterday when Charles Sutton, likeable young player from Berkeley, California, and seeded first, won his opening match from former B.C. champ Ozzie Ryall in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1.

In other men's singles Henry Bennett, local threat, defeated Ron Mitchell with the loss of only four games, while Dranga, Suhr and Oswald, also seeded, had little trouble winning in straight sets.

Humphries and Dunbar pulled a mild upset in winning their first round doubles match from the veterans, McCallum and Gordon. They lost only two games in the first set but the second proved to be the longest marathon of the tournament so far as the local doubles combinations went to 22 games before Humphries and Dunbar pulled through at 12-10. In another good doubles match, the veteran Preston McDonald and Nicolai, both of Seattle but strangers together in doubles play, defeated local combination of Jack and Bernard Milledge in three sets, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

REACHES FINAL

In the veterans singles Carl Brand, tournament manager, had a gala day with dual wins, one over Stan Rowe of Montreal at 6-3, 6-2, and the other from Erik McCallum, the popular club president, in three sets, 6-1, 5-7, 6-2, putting him in the final of this event. Preston McDonald scored his second win of the day by ousting Dr. McCord of Berkeley, 6-2, 6-3. A win in his next match will mean a repeat performance of the veterans singles last week in Vancouver.

The late afternoon crowd today will be treated to continued good tennis when Jack Milledge, victor in the juniors, meets Dr. McCord in the final of the boys' singles.

FASTBALL GAME

An exhibition fastball game will be played Thursday night at Bullen Park between Esquimalt Meat Market, leaders of the senior B loop and KV's.

130 Seek Berths In Scottish Ice League

TORONTO (CP)—Try-out for berths in the Scottish Hockey League get under way at the royal rink here tomorrow with approximately 130 pucksters, most of them juniors, from as far afield as Saskatoon and Truro competing for 60 positions.

The selected players will join a group of Canadians already in Scotland for the winter season. The league will operate teams in six Scottish cities.

Keen Pennant Fight In Midget Ball Loop

In the Victoria Minor Baseball Association's midget department keen competition continues between Esquimalt Taid and Blue Line clubs, two top nines in the loop who are fighting it out for the circuit pennant.

Last night they hooked up again and after seven innings finished in a 12 to 12 sawoff. This was a repeat of final decisions in their previous two tie-ups when they finished in 4 to 4 and 6 to 6 draws. They will battle again tomorrow evening at 6:30 at Beacon Hill Park, bordering on Douglas Street, in another effort to decide the league winners.

In another game in this section Ker Electric scored a 11 to 8 decision over Eagles.

Catches 10 Trout In Cameron Lake

Foster Ambury, local fisherman, on Sunday enjoyed good dry-fly trout fishing in Cameron Lake in the waters off the Chalet. He took a basket of 10, the smallest going 10 inches and the largest 18 inches.

The Beacon Hill nine defeated James Bay Park, 16 to 15, in an interplayground baseball series game Tuesday. Winners gained the marginal run in the final inning.

Ciros Blank Hoyle-Brown 4-0 To Open City Fastball Final

Playing top-flight ball in all departments, coach Jim O'Connor's scarlet-clad Ciros fastball nine went one up on Lloyd Jones' Hoyle-Brown blueshirts by virtue of the 4 to 0 shutout they administered Tuesday evening as the two senior A men's clubs fought it out in the opening round of their best-of-seven play-off series for the city crown.

In the neighborhood of 700 rival supporters attended and were treated to a keen fight. The clubs will meet Friday in the second game at Central Park.

Ciros gained the win with some powerful batwork in the third and fourth innings. They snared two runs in each.

George "Porky" Andrews came through with a two-base slug in the third that paid off with the first brace of markers. Ciros catcher Henry Harris was on the sacks when Andrews hit low to the left outfield. The fielder failed to collar the ball neatly and the literally flying Andrews made the circuit with Harris completing the route before him.

In the fourth centre-fielder Red Palmer could not cleanly handle the hard knock of Gar Taylor's and the batter got to second base while pitcher Joe Bryant, who had got on with a hit, made the home plate for the third run. Taylor stole third and later came home on a wild pitch.

It was by no means an all-Ciros show. On two occasions the Hoyle-Browns came close to crashing the scoreboard but were

Brooklyn May Buy Spokane Ball Club

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Branch Rickey Jr. of the National League Brooklyn Dodgers said Tuesday he would consider buying the Spokane franchise in the Western International Baseball League "for any reasonable sum."

Sam Collins, owner of the Indians, said he would meet Rickey to discuss possibilities of Spokane becoming a farm team for the Dodgers.

"There are some points we don't see eye-to-eye on," Collins said.

Brooklyn officials said an agreement had been proposed which would give the Dodgers managerial and other control over the team.

Motorcycle Club Builds Racetrack

Victoria Motorcycle Club members spend most of their spare evenings at Langford where they are building a motorcycle racetrack on the infield of the regular speedway.

Club members have been working on the project for nearly a month and expect to complete it within the next two or three weeks.

The track is not laid out in the usual oval, but follows an irregular kidney shape, built for skillful driving rather than speed. The laps will measure about three-fifths of a mile.

The regular racetrack is too dangerous to be used for motorcycle races as any rider taking a skid or roll would be seriously injured. The track now under construction has a clay base with a thick bed of cinders on top.

George "Porky" Andrews came through with a two-base slug in the third that paid off with the first brace of markers. Ciros catcher Henry Harris was on the sacks when Andrews hit low to the left outfield. The fielder failed to collar the ball neatly and the literally flying Andrews made the circuit with Harris completing the route before him.

In the fourth centre-fielder Red Palmer could not cleanly handle the hard knock of Gar Taylor's and the batter got to second base while pitcher Joe Bryant, who had got on with a hit, made the home plate for the third run. Taylor stole third and later came home on a wild pitch.

GOOD IN PINCHES

It was by no means an all-Ciros show. On two occasions the Hoyle-Browns came close to crashing the scoreboard but were halted by the superb playing of Ciros in the pinches. Jack Okell gained second with a two-bagger in H.B.'s sixth session at bat with none out. He gained third, but died there as the next three batters flied out.

But the Hoyle-Brown offensive that had all the thrills sought in a ball game took place in the seventh when Ciros' leftfielder Gar Taylor came through with a bit of fielding, that was really on the sensational side, for a double play to retire the side.

Dusty Mair walked. Tenning hit to get on. George Barnes was caught out at first. Palmer walked, to fill the bags with one out. Taylor raced in from his position to just barely catch receiver Harrington's high hit into the inner outfield and whipped the ball over to second to catch Tenning for the twin killing.

Joe Bryant went, the distance for the winners and yielded seven safeties. Norm Martin started for Hoyle-Brown, but was yanked after the fifth to be replaced by Stan Tenning. Martin gave up five hits, Tenning two.

Army and Navy Vets defeated R.C.N.A.D. 21 to 9 in a sudden-death playoff to decide the second-place team in the men's B-B division. They won the runter-up spot by this triumph and will meet Penguins, in fourth place, while R.C.N.A.D. oppose Chinese Students in semifinal playoffs.

Army and Navy Taxi took an 8 to 3 decision from Spencers in a women's B section playoff contest.

George "Porky" Andrews came through with a two-base slug in the third that paid off with the first brace of markers. Ciros catcher Henry Harris was on the sacks when Andrews hit low to the left outfield. The fielder failed to collar the ball neatly and the literally flying Andrews made the circuit with Harris completing the route before him.

Athletics Pound Ball To Whip Spokane 15-4

Scattering seven hits and never allowing his opponents to score more than one run in any inning, veteran Pee Wee Bass southpawed Victoria Athletics to a 15 to 4 victory over Spokane Indians in their Western International League ball game last night. Clubs meet again tonight and then head for Victoria to resume play tomorrow evening.

Bass' teammates came up with some real power hitting in the second, third and fourth innings to give him a 10 to 2 margin to work on. Pete Hughes and Bob Cherry, Victoria outfielders, contributed home runs while shortstop Billy Dunn came up with three doubles. Just to complete the cycle catcher, Bob Paulson got himself a triple.

Athletics ruined the return appearance of pitcher Gus Hall-bourg, first of the fatal bus crash survivors, to resume play. He was blasted for 12 hits and 10 runs before giving up the ghost in favor of Salish. Dunn led the Victoria attack with four for five.

WENATCHEE WINS

Chuck Cronin, Wenatchee hurler, broke up his own ball game last night with a 13-inning single to cap a three run outburst that downed the Salem Senators 4 to 1 and increased the Chiefs' first place margin to two full games.

Two Salem errors and a walk by pitcher Eddie Kowalski set the stage for Cronin's single.

Two five run outbursts in the third and fifth innings pushed the Tacoma Tigers to an 11 to 7 win over Yakima while Bremerton scammed home ahead of Vancouver 5 to 3 with two 11th inning tallies. Vancouver's Bill Brenner homered in the fourth inning.

Short scores follow:

Wenatchee 4 6 2
Salem 1 7 3
Batteries—Cronin and E. Fitzgerald; Kowalski and Salmon.

Bremerton 5 12 2
Vancouver 3 10 1
Batteries—Kittle and Paglia; Anderson and Brenner.

Yakima 7 12 3
Tacoma 11 15 4
Batteries—Strait, Simons (5) and McConnell; Colombo and Kemper.

ENDANGERS THE EYES

When light is reflected from a shiny surface, or when it strikes the eye directly, it causes a contraction of the pupil and uneven stimulation of the retina. This may be a source of headaches or of automobile accidents.

The human eye was developed for use out-of-doors, and bright light does not cause it any difficulty, except when the intensity is too great.

Sun glasses afford relief from glare, if they are the proper type. The inexpensive variety is often made of pressed glass, and, because of the uneven surfaces through which the light must pass, these glasses may be a source of eye-strain.

If you wear sun-glasses, purchase the variety made of optical ground glass, which shuts out most of the harmful rays and does not interfere with color perception.

Individuals with errors in refraction may have their correction ground into their sun glasses for use out-of-doors.

OUTDOOR READING DANGER

Reading out-of-doors in the summertime may cause eye-strain from glare if the light is reflected directly from the glossy page into the eye. Summertime readers also develop eye-strain from reading lying down in such a way that the book, magazine, or paper is not held in the proper position.

The student with an eye difficulty should give his eyes a rest during the summer months. Although eye examinations indicate that students' eyes are rarely harmed by study, there is a certain variety of eye-strain, notably myopia or nearsightedness, which has a tendency to become worse during childhood and early adult life.

Myopic persons should have their eyes checked from time to time, and should give them a rest from fine work at every opportunity.

Eye infection may result from irritation by strong light, although the usual cause is a germ or a virus which has been picked up through contact with someone else who has an eye infection. Use of a common towel at the beach may be the source of these infections.

Mild cases usually clear up without difficulty if they are kept clean, but the more serious ones require the attention of a physician.

SUMMER EYE ALLERGIES

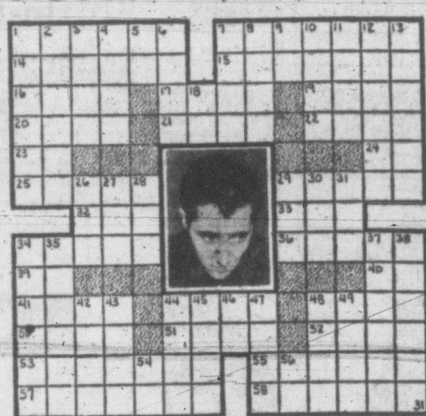

Allergic reactions may involve the eyes (yernal catarrh), and these tend to start in the spring and last until fall. Seasonal allergic eye manifestations are associated with sensitivity to plants and trees. The allergy appears during the peak of sensitivity.

Summer is a good time to have the children's eyes examined, before they start to school. Learning is retarded by poor vision. Children who are wearing glasses should have their eyes rechecked before fall, to make sure that they have the proper correction.

In the hands of the Indians of Brazil the blow-gun is a deadly weapon. They can kill birds with it at a distance of 200 yards.

Uncle Ray

PHOTOGRAPHER HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM EXPLODING VOLCANO

Two hundred and thirty years ago, a Spaniard set down an account of an explosion of a volcano which he had watched. The Spaniard was Manuel de Cerce and he was on the island of Luzon in the Philippines at the time.

"On the 24th of September," he wrote, "at about 6 o'clock in the evening, loud noises were heard. Soon it was plain that the volcano in Lake Bombon was exploding on the side which faces the town of Lipa. Smoke and ashes shot into the air. Mighty waves were set up in the lake, and the waves lashed the shores.

"Fish were killed, some of them large, others small. The waves tossed them on the beach. They looked as though they had been cooked. They had been heated by the water, which had reached the boiling point during the explosion."

You will note that Cerce spoke of the volcano as being in a lake. True enough, to this day there is a volcano in a lake 40 airline miles south of Manila. Now better known as Lake Taal, the lake has Taal volcano in it.

The lake is 11 miles wide and 16 miles long. It is cut off from the ocean by a wall about two miles wide, and this wall is composed of ashes. The whole lake bottom is believed to be a gigantic crater of a volcano which was active thousands of years ago.

Water gathers inside the crater at the centre of the present Taal volcano. In this way a little lake has been formed in the midst of the rocky island! Several explosions of Taal volcano have taken place during the past two centuries. One came on a January day in 1911. Charles Martin, an American photographer, had rowed to the island shortly before. After taking several pictures, he returned to shore. Then came a mighty blast, with hundreds of tons of mud being hurled into the air.

The volcano threw ashes over an area of 140 square miles. The sound of the blast was heard at a distance of 310 miles. Twelve hundred persons were killed, but among those who escaped injury was the American photographer.

Pianist In Recital At Summer School

A warm reception was given Marjorie Lea, pianist, Tuesday when she presented her recital to Summer School of Education students at Victoria High School. Schumann's "Carnival," a difficult work calling for all the musicianship of the artist, was excellently played and provided a satisfying experience for her listeners.

Other selections offered by Miss Lea were Debussy's "Suite pour le Piano," and several shorter selections by Respighi and Prokofiev.

GET ARM BACK

To get full power in your arm swing, start your pitch by keeping your pitching arm as far back as possible. Study illustration closely.

BEND FORWARD KNEE

As arm comes down and forward, step forward. Place weight on other foot. Knee of front leg must be well bent. This is very important.

FOLLOW THROUGH

Most pitchers stop forward motion of pitching arm too soon. To get maximum speed and control let arm follow right through after ball.

'Youngest Policeman' Gets Stolen Bike Back After Chase

Easily the happiest Victoria boy today is 11-year-old Garry Boothroyd.

Garry, who lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Boothroyd, 1109 Kings Road, got back his bicycle which was stolen July 25, a little more than a month after he bought it for $45, which he saved in four years of selling newspapers. On top of that he went to "Y" camp this afternoon for 10 days' holiday at Glinz Lake. Garry, who stands not much more than four and a half feet, weighs about 80 pounds, figured he needed that holiday particularly after the extra busy days he spent since his bike disappeared from the front yard of his home.

Garry, naturally, was discouraged in losing the bike, but not so much so that he didn't start to save right away to buy another one. He had $4.22 in his pocket already toward the purchase of a new one.

The $4.22 probably will be used to buy more frivolous things now, though, but only because of the youngster's sharp eye and "sturdy" little legs.

Selling papers at the corner of Yates and Blanshard Streets last Monday afternoon, Garry saw his bike being ridden down the street by someone he didn't know. Even though the black paint on the frame was scratched off, Garry knew the bike was his. He recognized it from some little rusty spots and general appearance.

"A fella knows things that belong to him," he said. Not letting the unknown rider of his bike know that he was following, Garry started to run after him. He ran and ran and nearly had to give up the chase once.

"I thought I was getting a pain in my side," he grinned.

Finally the stranger stopped at a service station at Hillside Avenue and Douglas Street to put some air in the tires, and Garry, with a last burst of speed, caught him before he was away again.

Garry enlisted the aid of an attendant at the service station to hold the bike rider, and the police were called.

Outcome was the appearance of a youth in city police court who was convicted today of retaining in his possession a bicycle knowing it to have been stolen. He was remanded until tomorrow for sentence.

But that was of little interest to Garry. He had his bike back and he was leaving town to get away from it all.

Abbott at Ottawa are: Hugh McLean, Winnipeg; Ernest McCubbin, Calgary; Henry Sheasby, Redcliff, Alberta; James Atwood, Vernon; Donald McDonald, Peachland; John Young, Kelowna; Vernon Muriel, Vancouver, and Stuart Riddell, Vancouver.

Times Religious Writer Visits Here

Dr. William E. Gilroy, prominent religious writer whose Saturday articles are syndicated all over the North American continent and appear on the church page of the Times, is spending six months here, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. M. D. McKichan of Saanichton. Mrs. McKichan is a sister of Dr. Gilroy.

Dr. Gilroy, who was born in Mount Forest, Ont., is a retired Congregational Church minister. For 19 years he preached in Hamilton, Toronto and Brantford but is now a resident of Boston, Mass.

He edited the former Congregationalist now the Advance and prepares the quarterly pamphlet entitled Daily Devotions, published quarterly.

Dr. Gilroy first visited Victoria in 1901 and has made six visits here since that time.

Fined $150

Leslie Howard Blow, convicted in city police court Monday of a charge that he offered a car for sale at a price higher than that allowed by the Wartime Prices and Trade board regulations, today was fined $150 and $2.50 costs or, in default of payment, one month in jail.

Blow, according to testimony, offered a 1941 Chrysler coupe for sale for $1,750. Ceiling price on the car was $1,014.

Says New Firemen All Ex-Servicemen

Answering charges made to the Saanich Council Tuesday night that men who were not veterans had been appointed to the municipal fire fighting force, Fire Chief Joseph Law said today no such action had been taken.

P. Martin laid the complaint and was told by Reeve A. G. Lambrecht there would be an investigation, the findings of which would be made available to him. Fire Chief Law said six new firemen had been employed since May 13 this year, and that every one of them was an ex-serviceman. They averaged three years service in the armed forces before being taken into the department, the chief said.

British-U.S. Experts Propose Separate Jewish, Arab Areas

LONDON (CP)—Viscount Addison today disclosed British-U.S. experts proposed to divide Palestine into four areas and leave to inhabitants of a Jewish province thus created the problem of deciding how many of their wandering fellow Jews could migrate to the Holy Land.

The four areas, he told the House of Lords, would include an Arab province and a Jewish province, and each "would have the power to limit the number and determine the qualification of persons who might wish to take up permanent residence in their territories."

In addition to the Jewish and Arab provinces, said Lord Addison, Dominions Secretary, the joint commission of experts proposed to establish a district of Jerusalem and a district of Begeb.

The latter section is a piece of desert land lying in southern Palestine in which Jewish migration was permitted under the 1940 Palestine land transfer regulations.

Lord Addison opened a Palestine debate held simultaneously in both Houses of Parliament.

He also announced that the British government had dissociated itself from a bitter anti-fraternization letter written by Lt. Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker to British troops under his command in Palestine.

Gen. Barker's action has been referred to Field Marshal Montgomery, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, Lord Addison said.

Famed Artists' Work At Little Centre

Dramatic etchings by Sir Frank Brangwyn and delicate water colors by Harold Gaze form the exhibition which opened Tuesday at the Little Centre, 965 Yates Street.

The Brangwyn display which will continue until Aug. 17 was given by the artist to the Vancouver Art Gallery and loaned to the Little Centre. Outstanding for their strength the etchings depict toil, darkness and ruin over which shines a triumphant human spirit.

In striking contrast are the delicate water colors shown by Mr. Gaze, well-known Pasadena artist. In introducing his works he said that symbols of the unity of living and inanimate things were contained in his colorful fantasies.

Hon. Mark Kearley opened the exhibition and told the gathering that a great love of humanity caused Brangwyn's works to have a universal appeal. He pointed out that stress was laid on the man rather than the machine in the etchings which depict bridges, locomotives, ships and blast furnaces.

"In this day and age," said Mrs. K. E. Maltwood, a former Brangwyn pupil, "when great stress is laid on all that is 'dynamic' and 'powerful' it is good to realize that great artists of whom Brangwyn is one have been able to combine subtlety with strength, and that delicacy of feeling is apparent even in their boldest work."

The works of Mr. Gaze, who has also written and illustrated nine books for children, will run until Aug. 15. At that time they will be replaced by reproductions of Brangwyn's murals done for Lloyd's of London and lent to the Little Centre by John Kyle, Arts and Crafts Society president.

He was drum major of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, R.C.A., trumpet band from 1927 to 1939, and drum major of the Fraternal Order of Eagles band here from its inception in 1941.

Russia Gains Most By Treaties Proposed For Axis Satellites

PARIS (AP)—Russia emerged today as the principal beneficiary of proposed peace treaties which would strip Italy, Finland and beaten Germany's Balkan satellites of their military power, redraw their frontiers and charge them at least $1,000,000,000 in reparations.

The treaty drafts presented to the 21-power peace conference Tuesday night by the Big Four agreed upon substantial territorial increases for the Soviet Union, upon payment of $900,000,000 in reparations to Russia and left Russia's domination of eastern Europe intact.

In certain disputed sections of the treaty drafts, however, it seemed apparent the western powers intend to try to whittle down some of the Russian gains in the east, at least in economic matters.

Under the proposed treaties—

which would end the state of war in Europe except for Germany and which would offer the five countries concerned an opportunity to enter the United Nations—none of the defeated countries would be allowed any bombing planes or submarines and would be required to guarantee fundamental human rights and to bar Fascist activity.

The proposed treaties—286 pages in length—offered a peace to Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Finland and Hungary which was mild in tone and largely so in demands, except for reparations and upon Italy's empire and border real estate.

The drafts offered little vital change in the troubled status quo—except for withdrawal of Russian occupation troops from the Balkans and Anglo-American forces from Italy. Russia alone of the major powers would win reparations.

Steelworkers Outline Proposals; Would Consider Fair Settlement

OTTAWA (CP)—The United Steelworkers' Union (C.I.O.) today told the Commons industrial relations committee it was prepared to consider "a fair and reasonable settlement" in its demands which led to the strike in three basic steel plants.

The union's statement was made in a brief presented to the committee by C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the union, outlining the union's demands for the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, Sydney, N.S.; Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton, Ont., and Algoma Steel Corporation, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The brief outlined the union's seven-point program:

1. Recognition of steel as a national industry, placing it directly under the National War Labor Board.
2. Establishment of a steel council with representatives of labor, management and the public.
3. Union-management production committees.
4. A national minimum guaranteed wage of $1.75, or $33.60 a week, equivalent to increases of 19 1/2 cents an hour.
5. A standard 40-hour week as manpower becomes available.
6. Two weeks' vacation with pay after five years' service.

British Parliament Nears Conclusion Of Strenuous Year

LONDON (Reuter)—Parliament will start its summer vacation Friday after the hardest year's work in its history. The Labor government, in office since July, 1945, drove it hard. Never before have there been so many all-night sittings of the House of Commons and never has so large an amount of legislation been produced.

Much of the legislation consists of measures long advocated by the Labor Party and promised in its general election program. Meanwhile the Labor government continues to hold in by-elections all its seats that fall vacant and Labor has retained or substantially increased its strength in local municipal contests.

Most often quoted at a Labor government failure is the housing problem. Something like 4,000,000 new houses are needed. Only 48,000 dwellings, most of them of the temporary, prefabricated type, have been built since the end of the war in Europe.

The government's reply to criticisms on housing is that the matter is being dealt with much faster than after the last war when only 72 houses were built in the first two years.

Mary Young won the Leiser electric cup at the Uplands Golf Club. Mrs. R. L. Pocock was runner-up. In a hidden hole competition Mary Mackenzie-Grieve won in A class and Mrs. H. A. Blakey in B.

Army Chiefs Will Attend Conference

LONDON (CP)—Commonwealth chiefs of staff and their high-ranking assistants will attend Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery's first conference as Chief of the Imperial General Staff in mid-August, the Canadian Press learned today.

Li. Gen. Charles Foulkes, Canada's Chief of the General Staff, is to arrive about Aug. 8 and with others will participate in a tactical scheme which is the form the conference is to take. If he is like the Australian generals whose departure by air from Sydney was reported today, Gen. Foulkes will reach rationed Britain with extra supplies of cooking fats, soap, egg powders and fruit.</

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The era of big, beautiful premieres returned to Hollywood Thursday night.
It was like old times along Hollywood Boulevard as several thousand people lined the street to watch the celebrities converge on Grauman's Chinese Theatre.
The occasion was the premiere of "Anna and the King of Siam" and it caused the biggest accumulation of fans in five years. The usual police staff was tripled.
Multi-colored searchlights cut through the sky as the country's best-known and best-paid working people drove up to the theatre in their limousines.
Unusual for a Hollywood occasion,
the film started only 35 minutes later, leaving latecomers like Lana Turner and Bob Hutton to grope down the darkened aisle.

Discussed Aug. 12

EDMONTON (CP)—Delegates from Canada, the United States, Great Britain and continental Europe will attend a meeting of the International Ice Hockey Association in New York Aug. 12.
Dr. W. G. Hardy, president of the organization, announced here today.
General plans for the development of world hockey will be discussed at the meeting. Dr.
Hardy indicated one of the knotty problems facing the gathering will be that dealing with the transfer of Canadian and U.S. hockey stars to Britain and other European countries.
"The general policy is that no player shall transfer from this continent to any country not affiliated with the I.C.H.A.," Dr.
Hardy stated.
J. F. Ahearne, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association, will attend the meeting together with Claude Kewley, who is expected to represent Scottish interests.
Monsieur Louis and M. Puesch

Deanna Durbin's House Claim Settled
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Deanna Durbin's $150,000 suit against her sister and others involving title to her former home has been settled. The Winnipeg-born actress lawyer announced Tuesday.
He said it was all due to a misunderstanding.
Miss Durbin sued her sister, Mrs. Edith Beckman, the latter's husband, Clarence Beckman, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Trousdale, last May, declaring she deeded the Brentwood residence to the Beckmans a year ago with the understanding they would hold it in trust for her. Instead, she charged, they sold it to the Trousdales last May for $110,000.
Settlement of the case was disclosed when Trousdale recorded a quit-claim deed to the property from Miss Durbin. Terms of the settlement were not announced.

For Louis Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Promoter
Mike Jacobs, who has come up with three world championship boxing bouts in Yankee Stadium in September, has been asked to transfer the heavyweight title fight between Joe Louis and Fami Mauriello to Detroit.
Michigan boxing commissioner John Hettche phoned Jacobs, asking the head man of the 20th Century Sporting Club to consider switching the fight to the champion's home town.
Detroit fans haven't seen Louis in a title fight since he stopped big Abe Simon in 13 rounds at the Olympia, March 21, 1941, in his 15th successful defence of the crown.
Hettche told Jacobs the fans in the motor city were clamoring for the fight.
Jacobs assured the commissioner he would consider the move, although it would require asking the New York American League Baseball Club for a release from the contract already signed.

Hal Newhouser Out

DETROIT (AP)—Hal Newhouser, Detroit Tigers' 20-game winner, Tuesday discovered a nerve injury in the elbow of his pitching arm will keep him out of action

Trainer Jack Homel said
the injury had nothing to do with bone chips located earlier this year in Newhouser's left elbow.
The ace left-hander has won 20 games and lost three.

Medical School Needs $350,000 Annually

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian medical schools have too small a unit of taxable population behind them, Dr. C. E. Dolman, research member of the Connaught Medical Research Laboratories, says in a report on a survey of medical education in Canada and the United States.
The survey was made for the University of British Columbia, of which he is a professor.
The United States has 70 schools with 140,000,000 population—a school to each 2,000,000—but Canada has 11 schools for 12,000,000 people.
Dr. Dolman recommended the yearly budget for the British Columbia medical school should be $350,000. The present figure
